Districting Is Defeated By Senate

First Try to Realign
Legislative Districts
In 25 Years Was Downed Today
Quick Ballot
Debate Surprisingly
Brief on Bitter
Subject

Albany, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—New York's senate defeated today efforts to reapportion both congressional and legislative districts.

In a surprisingly quick ballot after killing the state's first attempt to realign legislative districts in 25 years, the senate also dropped congressional redistricting by a margin of three votes.

The vote on legislative reapportionment was 21 to 27 and on the congressional proposal, 24 to 24. Twenty-six votes are necessary for adoption of any measure.

Senator Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., New York city Republican, who voted in favor of legislative reapportionment, shifted to negative vote on the congressional measure.

"Since the major part of the program has been defeated I will not vote for anything which may postpone ultimate passage of the entire program," he explained.

Republican Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley reiterated a stand that "this is not a party measure."

"Any Republican in this senate is free to vote as he sees fit on the measure," he asserted.

To some legislators, the debate was surprisingly brief on the legislature's bitter and most controversial subject.

Defeated by Voice Vote
New York's senate beat down today a Democratic effort to amend a reapportionment bill which opponents termed a Republican attempt to "get more legislative representation than they're entitled to."

Immediately, the senate turned to a vote on the bitterly contested main bill which would increase senate districts from 51 to 56, and revise almost every assembly line.

After disposing of this issue, the senate planned to ballot on a congressional reapportionment bill.

The amendment, defeated by a voice vote, offered by Senator Lazarus Joseph, New York city Democrat, would have re-shuffled the entire reapportionment proposed by a Republican-dominated reapportionment committee and increased the number of present districts by only one.

"I agree sincerely with Governor Lehman," Joseph, a minority member of the committee, told the senate, "that we need a reapportionment to offset population shifts and give a more just representation."

"But I am convinced the present measure was drafted by Republicans who found this an opportune time to get more legislative representation than they're entitled to. For a political maneuver, I don't blame them."

Senator Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., opposed the amendment. He maintained the committee bill would correct what he called "shocking under representation" of heavily populated metropolitan districts.

Still aroused by the bitter debate which resulted in a lack of five votes for adoption of the bill, the senate turned immediately to balloting on congressional reapportionment—an issue expected to be even closer.

The measure to realign senate districts, increase the number of representatives from 51 to 56 and shift almost every assembly line, was assailed by Senator Jacob J. Schwartzwald, Brooklyn Democrat, as "a partisan, political, gerrymandering Republican bill."

"It would deprive metropolitan districts with known Democratic sentiment of fair representation," he shouted. "It seeks to over-balance representation by distorting the constitution and giving undue weight to the Republican party."

"It is a sham and can lay no claim to equality."

Senator Peter J. Farrell, Queens Democrat, maintained, however, rejection of the bill would "deny the people of this state something for which we are now fighting a war—fair and equal representation."

Other opponents, including Senator Roy Page, Binghamton Republican, contended reapportionment

Oil-Burning Units In East To Be Converted

Reading, Pa., April 17 (AP)—Anthracite operators expect oil-burning units in approximately 850,000 homes in the east will have to be converted to the use of other fuels, mainly coal, before next winter.

Heavy losses of tankers and increased consumption of oil products in the war program will force the change, said Frank C. Wright, Washington representative of the anthracite coal operators association.

Accompanying the conversion will be a demand for iron furnace grates, he told delegates to the 35th convention of the Pennsylvania Retail Coal Merchants' Association.

Dealers, he added, expect there will not be enough grates to meet the demand.

Young Boy Hit by Taxi, in Hospital

Is Reported in Fair Condition Today

Thomas Maines, 6, of 56 Franklin street, was injured when knocked down by a taxi driven by Edward S. Benoit of 115 Wall street at 7:40 o'clock Thursday night.

The boy was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Mr. Benoit, where his condition today was reported as fair. X-rays pictures will be taken today at the hospital to determine if the boy suffered a skull fracture.

According to the police report and Mr. Benoit's statement to the police he was driving over Henry street and near the intersection of Schryver Court the boy ran out from behind a parked car directly in the path of the taxicab.

The police learned that Isadore Halpern of 196 Henry street had the boy in his car and had stopped on Henry street at the curb to allow the boy to get out of the car.

Mr. Halpern told the police he thought that the boy would continue on to his home without attempting to cross the street, but instead the boy ran out and was crossing the street when struck.

Combined General Staff Is Agitated For by British

By DREW MIDDLETON

London, April 17 (AP)—Agitation for a combined general staff which would integrate Britain's three fighting services as one gigantic combat team is growing in influential London circles considering reverses in the Pacific war and successes in European coastal raids.

Observers said Britain was near the end of fresh manpower resources and the obvious answer was to employ more efficiently those already in the army, navy and Royal Air Force.

Commando thrusts against German continental bases are cited by informed sources as a model in their use of the three arms.

The London visit of Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. Army chief of staff, and the appointment of Lord Louis Mountbatten, adventurous cousin of King George VI, to lead the invasion-trained Commandos focus attention on the British-American role in battles of 1942.

British naval losses in the Bay of Bengal following the fall of Singapore have aroused uneasiness in Commons over an alleged lack of coordination in land, sea and air operations.

This is echoed by the powerful London Times. It pleaded editorially for a combined general staff to outline British strategy as simple logic which might reassure the nation that risks assumed in the Indian Ocean "were not taken haphazardly, but were organically part of an articulated plan for the conduct of the whole campaign in Asiatic lands and oceans."

The Times declared that lack of air support had accounted for a "succession of military and naval disasters," adding:

"The conviction that something is fundamentally lacking in coordination of the three fighting services has steadily gained ground in the present war and was never more widely or firmly held than now."

Washington, April 17 (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that "so far as the army is concerned we are getting pretty near to the stage of being ready for an offensive, however difficult it may be."

In a review of American military progress since Pearl Harbor, given in general terms at his press conference, Stimson said:

"Things are beginning to move and to move in the right direction."

"I am now more than ever convinced that we are going to get on the offensive and to do so at the earliest practicable moment," he added.

He stressed, however, that preparation for offensive warfare in a conflict which involved the entire globe was a long and difficult process.

"Before we can lead this nation into a long sustained offensive we must be as sure as possible that certain key points in our armor are as safe as possible," the war secretary said.

"We must make sure that our resources and manufactures are protected against any interruption which would hold up or damage our offense."

"And when it is a world war with powerful enemies attacking us all around the globe, our points of defense run far out into distant quarters of the world where some friendly nation is holding a post that is vital to us. That is what we have been trying to do during these difficult months and the task is not yet finished."

Stimson described the morale of the American fighting forces as "superb."

The fortified island, less than 60 miles from Sicily, as long ago as March 7 had had 2,000 air raid alarms since Italy's entrance into the war.

London, April 17 (AP)—The U. S. Employment Service for New York filled 57,583 jobs in March, 19 per cent more than in the previous month, Director Richard C. Brockway announced today. The placements included 21,074 in manufacturing, 14,393 in household jobs, and 22,116 in other employment. These represented a 17 per cent increase over February in New York city and 21 per cent in the rest of the state.

London, April 17 (AP)—George E. Merrick, who was reported once to have refused $80,000,000 for his real estate holdings in Coral Gables, left an estate of only $300,000 as he was revealed in his will filed for probate yesterday.

His widow was named executrix of the estate, consisting of equity in an automobile and a salary balance due from his job as Miami's postmaster. Friends said Merrick used most of his income in payment of claims growing out of the crash of the Florida real estate boom. He developed Coral Gables.

France's new pro-Nazi premier, the wily Pierre Laval, named Admiral Jean Darlan as commander of French land, sea and air forces today, and thereby apparently eased the crisis in relations with the allies.

Admiral Darlan also was designated as heir to 85-year-old Marshal Philippe Petain as chief of state, a Vichy communique announced.

Although bitterly anti-British, Darlan is said to be adamant against handing over the French fleet to Germany. It remained to be seen, however, how far he would collaborate with the collaborationist, Laval.

The possible "joker" was that Darlan resigned his vice premiership and all ministerial posts to become head of the nation's armed forces—and presumably he would be bound to obey Laval's orders.

All other members of the old government resigned, with Petain's formal thanks "for the devoted help which they had given him in the grace circumstances through which the country is passing."

Free French quarters in London predicted that one of Laval's first acts would be to send French warships into the Mediterranean and the Atlantic in an attempt to provoke an incident with British naval forces and thus drive France into war on the side of the Axis.

These quarters declared Laval would resort to such a trick because "he would not dare launch over the French fleet to Hitler outright . . . the people would not stand for it."

In Washington, observers frankly considered the possibility of a shooting war between the French and allied navies as a highly competent source said there was evidence that Laval planned to throw the French fleet into a campaign to recapture French possessions now in the hands of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's anti-Vichy Free French forces.

Military analysts said Laval might attempt to drive the Free French and British out of Syria in a campaign synchronized with Hitler's heralded thrust into the middle east, or send warships and troop transports to the West African coast in an attempt to wrest control of Equatorial Africa from Gen. De Gaulle's followers.

Washington expected an announcement today on how far the United States would go in breaking off relations with the new Vichy regime, with speculation centering on the chances of a complete rupture.

Emphasizing the United States' firm stance to Adolf Hitler's secretary of State Sumner Welles already had rejected the latest communication from Vichy—a verbal notice refusing to accept an American note which condemned "that small handful of Frenchmen" playing Hitler's game.

Whatever may happen, high quarters in Washington declared the United States was ready for swift action and would not hesitate to act—especially if Laval's plans involved French possessions in the western hemisphere, including Martinique, Guadeloupe, and French Guiana.

Delivers Rule to Laval
In Vichy, Marshal Petain, the old "hero of Verdun" in the 1914-18 World War, who surrendered France to Adolf Hitler's conquering legions in June, 1940, presided at a half-hour final session of his cabinet and delivered actual rule of France to Laval.

Dispatches from Bern, Switzerland, said anti-collaborationists were on the march again in Paris; France was reported, and three mysterious fires were said to have broken out, one of them raging through the historic Fontainebleau Forest near Paris.

Other major developments: Attack on Italy—Premier Mussolini's high command announced today that "an attempt of the enemy to make a landing on one of our islands south of Crete was unsuccessful."

Presumably the attack was made by British sea-borne forces. Russian campaign—Adolf Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that the Red armies had launched a powerful attack on the central (Moscow) front, while a Berlin broadcast complained that "German troops have to fight

The United States recalled Ambassador Admiral William D. Leahy from France today "for consultation" as the Vichy government resigned and old Marshal Petain, apparently putting a "brake" on the resurgence of pro-Nazi Pierre Laval to power, named Admiral Jean Darlan as commander of French land, sea and air forces.

Vichy dispatches said Ambassador Leahy had been ordered home to consult with the government—not necessarily meaning an open break in Washington-Vichy relations—and that he was expected to leave within two or three weeks.

Admiral Darlan was also designated Petain's heir as chief of state, and neutral observers saw in this the possibility that the 85-year-old marshal, in a final anti-collaboration gesture, sought to prevent Laval from assuming complete dictatorial powers.

As the Vichy drama sped toward a climax, bristling with the likelihood of world-wide repercussions, fresh outbreaks of terrorism were reported against the German occupation armies in France.

Nazi authorities in Vichy announced that 35 more hostages had been shot in occupied France in reprisal for attacks on German troops, and anti-collaboration demonstrators were said to be marching again in Paris.

MacArthur in Command
Stimson also declared that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was to complete "over-all strategic command" of the Allied war effort in the southwest Pacific and in charge of "practical coordination" in that area to defeat the Japanese invaders.

The war secretary described confusion over Gen. MacArthur's exact status as "a tempest in a teapot" and said he had the same type of command as formerly was held by the British Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell.

In the Philippine theatre, a War Department bulletin announced that more than 65,000 American-Filipino troops and civilians, including 16 generals, had been unreported for more than a week on Batan peninsula and were "presumably in the hands of the enemy."

The figure included 35,000 combat troops, 5,500 sick and wounded, supply and other noncombatant troops, and 25,000 civilians.

All 68 army nurses on Bataan were evacuated to Corregidor Island on April 9, the communique said.

In Burma, latest reports indicated that the situation was critical in the extreme.

"Scorched Earth" Policy
British engineers applying the "scorched earth" policy were reported to have destroyed 6,000 oil wells in the rich Yenangaung fields in western Burma today as outnumbered British troops retreated anew under the fiercest Japanese assault of the campaign.

Simultaneously, British Minister Richard G. Casey warned that the Allies must assume Japan can strike in "major offensives against Australia and India" at the same time.

Burma is the eastern approach to India.

British headquarters acknowledged that battle-worn British troops, fighting a desperate holding action against Japan's invasion armies in the Irrawaddy river valley, had withdrawn at least 15 miles to a line north of Magwe.

Magwe is the gateway to the Yenangaung oil fields, China's chief source of oil supplies.

The British communique said heavy Japanese pressure on the British right flank had forced the withdrawal, but said other British troops in the Taunggyi sector were still "successfully protecting the right flank of the Chinese Expeditionary Force."

The main Chinese army, commanded by the American Lieutenant Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, is under heavy attack by Japanese columns

Rude Awakening
St. Louis — Bishop William Scarlett's faith in humanity is shaken. He gave $5 to a stranger who said he was the brother of Bishop Sturdivant of Fond Du Lac, Wis., and in temporary financial difficulty. Only when he called Bishop Sturdivant to inform him the whereabouts of his brother, there came the sad awakening—Bishop Sturdivant had no brother.

No Deliveries
Fort Wayne, Ind. — Richard Bucher, Fort Wayne bakery truck driver, starting out on his route, climbed into his truck, warmed up the motor and waved goodbye to fellow workers. Just as he drove off, the front end of the truck dropped to the pavement. He got out and looked. Somebody had stolen the wheels. The route manager blamed tire thieves.

Surprise
Atlanta — A large part of Atlanta's fire department clanged down the street, came to a stop near the Atlanta Constitution's office. From office boy to managing editor, the editorial force on the fourth floor rushed to windows to watch the action. The city editor dashed to the street level. A reporter called the fire department. The fire—it was on the fifth floor—the newspaper's composing room.

A Practical Man
Concordia, Kas. — Let's get right down to business," suggested Mayor Delmer Harris at the first aid class. A few minutes later the mayor fainted. He was resuscitated by members of the class.

Over, But Not Easy
Wellington, Kas. — Wellington residents are getting a little tired of scrambled eggs—en masse. A truck loaded with 190 cases of eggs, valued at $1,500, overturned yesterday. It was the second such accident at the same curve.

Greek Traffic
Denver — Two sororities bring plenty of company, but three would be a crowd. In denying the petition of the Alpha Xi Delta to move into a block already occupied by two other sororities, the Denver zoning board explained that such organizations had a penchant for producing noise and attracting excessive traffic.

Freedom of the Press
Ottawa, Kas. — The editor of the Ottawa Herald looked twice at the latest communique from his country correspondent. It was a report of a well attended neighborhood cockfight. After applying total censorship, the editor mailed a note explaining the sport was outlawed in Kansas.

Men's Bowling Banquet

Port Ewen, April 17—The Port Ewen Men's Community Club Bowling Club held its annual banquet at Schoentag's on Monday evening, April 13. Following the steak dinner, entertainment was furnished by Peter Donald, who was very hilarious with his songs, jokes, dances and Scotch tunes on his bag-pipes. Edmund P. Rockford of the Hercules Powder Company gave a very interesting talk on "The history of powder and explosives and their uses in modern warfare and industry." Members of the club who were honored by the group were Willard Walker, who is leaving to join the army, and Harold Ferguson, who is going to Oneonta as the G.L.F. representative. At the election of the following for the coming season, the following were elected: President, Vincent Meleski; vice president, Edwin Doyle, Sr.; secretary, Chester Barth, and treasurer, Clifford Davis, Sr. The committee in charge of arrangements for the banquet were Vincent Meleski, chairman, assisted by Clifford Davis, Sr., Clifford Davis, Jr., Harold Ferguson and Edwin Doyle, Sr. Those present were Edmund Rockford, John T. Groves, Clifford Davis, Sr., Clifford Davis, Jr., Harold Ferguson, Lester Ferguson, Joel Kiff, Sr., Herbert Christian, Edwin Doyle, Sr., Edwin Doyle, Jr., Raymond Howe, Sr., Raymond Howe, Jr., John Reynolds, Sr., John Reynolds, Jr., David Harris, Chester Barth, Culver Ten Broeck, Sr., Walter Hutt, Robert Fairbrother, Adolph Munson, William Goodrich, Elmer Parsell, Vincent Meleski, Fred DuBois, Hubert DuBois, Jack Potter, Basil Potter, Jr., Gerow Slight, Reginald Van Leuven, William Buddenhagen, Ernest Kelly, Capt. Brody, Peter Donald, Willard Walker, Frederick DeWitt, Robert Torrens, Sr., Robert Torrens, Jr., Ed Cunningham.

Observation Detail

Port Ewen, April 17—The following men comprised the detail at the ground observation post in St. Remy on Wednesday, April 15: Basil Potter, Jr., Robert Clark, John Reynolds, George Hayes, Henry Deane, Sr., the Rev. Frank Coutant, the Rev. George Berens, Harry Mable, Joseph Sawyer, Frank Albrecht, Martin Nilan and B. Coniglio. Several more men could be used very nicely on this detail. If anyone is willing to offer his services he is requested to notify either John Reynolds or Robert Fairbrother.

Books for the Soldiers

Port Ewen, April 17—There is still a need for books for the men in service and for householders are requested to look through their shelves for volumes for that purpose. Books of fiction, travel, biography, and recent technical works are most needed. Old technical books are of no value. Books for this use may be left at Reg Van Leuven's barber shop as soon as possible. From there they will be sorted and shipped. The last books collected were sent to Camp Wheeler, Macon, Georgia.

Village Notes

Port Ewen, April 17—Mrs. Frank White was the overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schuhle of Highland on Tuesday. While there she attended the district deputy grand matron's official visit to the Highland chapter, Eastern Star, where Mrs. White was one of the hostesses. Mrs. Albert Siebert of Stapleton, Staten Island, recently visited Mr. and Mrs. William Siebert. Mrs. Charles Behrens has returned home after a visit to her husband, Major Charles Behrens at Cochran Field, Georgia. While there she visited the flying field.

AT THE END OF A PERFECT DAY

Is nothing more cheerful than a glass of Utica Club, either Pilsner or XXX Pale Cream Ale. Ask for it in Clubs, Restaurants, Grocers.—Adv.

Kingston Totals 106 Placements During March

Albany, N. Y., April 17—The United States Employment Service for New York filled a total of 57,583 jobs during March, it was announced today by State Director Richard C. Brockway. Of these, 21,074 were in manufacturing, 14,393 in household jobs, and 22,116 were in other employment.

Total placements in Kingston were 106. Of these, 65 were in manufacturing plants, 21 in household service, and 20 in other jobs.

State-wide placements were 19 per cent higher than in February, partly because of two additional working days in March. Placements in New York city showed a 17 per cent increase, almost entirely as a result of increases in industries other than manufacturing. The gains were fairly uniform in all New York city offices except the needle-trades offices, which showed only a slight increase. This was no doubt due to the fact that employment in the apparel industry continued at the high level of the previous month.

Avalanches caused snow and rock to pile up 15 feet in some round Lake Lucerne in Switzerland recently.

GARDEN FOR VICTORY Grow Vitamins at Your Kitchen Door

Beautify Gardens

Growing Annuals Between Rows of Vegetables

A pleasing design and the free use of flowers about your Victory Garden will make it an attraction the season long. The use of flowers in the vegetable garden is an old American Colonial idea.

Rows of annuals are alternated with rows of vegetables. The beds are raised and kept to sharply maintained straight lines with paths between, and around each vegetable bed there is a narrow border of some favorite annual. Some of the vegetables with ornamental foliage are effectively used in this manner. Among them are parsley, carrots, Swiss chard, and that useful herb, sage, the gray green foliage and blue blooms of which are as attractive as many of the subjects grown exclusively in the flower garden.

Chives give a neat, grassy line and in their season give a wealth of heads of lavender bloom. Fennel, sweet alyssum, lobelia, Virginia stocks, dwarf petunias, dwarf marigolds and other low growing plants are often used as edging for vegetable patches.

In the garden laid out in straight rows an occasional row of annuals to furnish flowers for the table upon which the vegetables are to be used in the menu gives fine color and effect. For this purpose, centaureas, asters, calendulas, scabiosa, ten weeks stocks and other annuals of compact and upright growth are excellent. Annual plants of wide spreading, sprawling growth are not appropriate as vegetable companions.

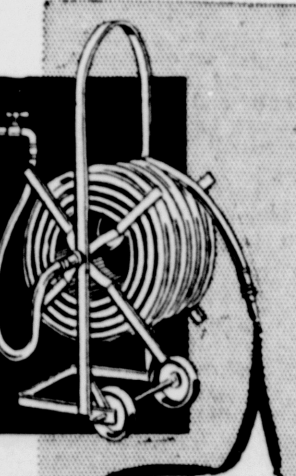

A seed bed in some convenient corner with annuals growing in rows ready for transplanting may be established, and from this supply annuals can be transplanted into the vegetable garden as fast as some of the early vegetables have matured and have been gathered and used.

Look over the hoes and rakes occasionally and grease the blades if they are growing rusty.

Soil which is frozen should be thawed out gradually for seed box use. Quick drying tends to form hard lumps. After it is sifted, baking in a hot oven for half an hour will kill fungi and weed seeds.

Begin collecting stakes for the garden. There will never be enough when you want them.

In planning your Victory garden, make the width between rows for root crops, leaf crops and bush peas and beans, just wide enough for your wheel hoe to cultivate it with one trip.

I'm not trying to stick my nose into your business, but don't you think I'd like to have the pleasant feel of cold water zowing again. As things stand now, I'm just stuck over in the corner of the cellar. Wake up! I'm worth money to you. Sell me through a Want Ad.

Training Session Slated for Local Firemen April 22

A training session for both volunteer and auxiliary firemen of the city will open Wednesday evening, April 22, at 7:30 o'clock at the Central Fire Station, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy announced today.

The firemen are required to have ten hours fire training. The class, he said, will register at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night and start the training course at once.

Throw in Car With Tires

Woodstock, N. B., Canada, April 17 (AP)—Five tires "in real good shape, hardly worn at all" can be purchased for $825 from a motorist. He advertised today that he will "throw in absolutely free" a 1940 model automobile.

HOME BUREAU

Lomontville Unit

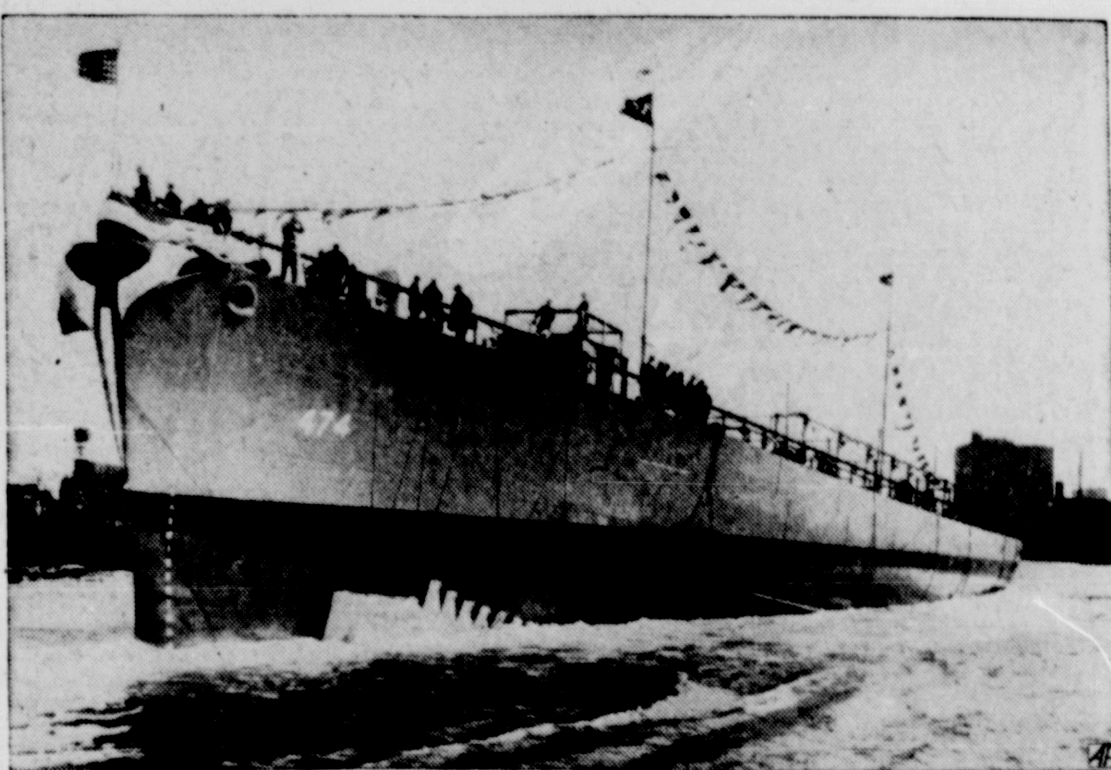

The Lomontville Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Ray LeFevre Wednesday, April 15, at 2 p. m.

Those present were: Mrs. F. Markle as guest, Mrs. D. France, Mrs. R. LeFevre, Mrs. R. Elliott, Mrs. M. V. Bryant, Mrs. C. Houghtaling, Mrs. M. Spireng, Mrs. R. Terwilliger, Mrs. G. Eckert, Mrs. N. Reis and Mrs. G. Ribstein.

The meeting opened with the reading of the minutes and roll call. Mrs. Houghtaling reported on the refitting lessons and Mrs. LeFevre gave some useful suggestion on the arrangement of clothes closets. Mrs. F. Markle gave a report on the health meetings she had attended.

The election of officers took place at this meeting. Mrs. Ray LeFevre was named chairman; Mrs. G. Ribstein, vice chairman; Mrs. D. France, secretary and treasurer.

DESTROYER FULLAM LAUNCHED AT BOSTON

The U. S. S. Fullam (above), a new destroyer named for the late Rear Admiral William F. Fullam, floats off into Boston harbor after a launching ceremony at the Boston Navy Yard. The Fullam was one of two destroyers to go off the ways at the yard's shipbuilding plant the same day.

Physical Fitness Program

Annapolis, Md., April 17 (AP)—Twelve New York college and high school coaches begin supervision tomorrow of the navy's gigantic V-5 physical fitness program for aviation cadets. Fordham's Sleepy Jim Crowley, now a lieutenant commander in the naval reserves, heads the New Yorkers who will go to Chapel Hill, N. C., where a large portion of the estimated 30,000 flying fledglings will begin to arrive next month. Crowley is selected tentatively as athletic director at one of four naval pre-flight schools. Besides Crowley, the New Yorkers include Edwin W. Green, Suffern, whose high school football teams dropped only two games between 1938 and 1941; E. S. Schiffer, Bronx, and Jack Grant Verlee, Patchogue High football and basketball coach.

Eighteen different conductors have led the famous United States Marine Corps band since its inception, including the great John Philip Sousa.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, April 17—John Rasmussen and Alfred Zimmerman, New Paltz and Clintondale, received their first degree at the meeting of Adonai Lodge, F. and A. M., Monday night. David Corwin of New Paltz, the master, presided.

Mrs. Olga Kost was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Y. W. Business League at the Young Women's Christian Association in Poughkeepsie Thursday night. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. Kost, who lives in New Paltz, came to this country in 1921 after the revolution and the fall of the White army and became an American citizen in the minimum length of time. She is an accomplished musician and was born in Russia. Her talk on Thursday night on "The Role of Women During the Emergency" was followed by several piano selections which all enjoyed.

David Gerow was a guest of Mrs. Augusta Johnston in Plattekill Thursday evening.

Mrs. Albert Warren of Plattekill visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ingraham Friday.

Dr. P. W. Jimmerman was the guest speaker of the meeting of the Study Club at the Normal School last Tuesday. Speaking on the topic, "Trends in Modern Plant Sciences," he illustrated his subject with movies and slides.

The Rev. Elmer Bostock officiated at the wedding of Elizabeth Cruickshank and John E. Fuller at Pine Hill Saturday, April 11.

Ellsworth Aube, who has just returned from Trinidad, is visiting his brother, Raymond Aube in town.

Mrs. A. Weisz and children visited friends in Pelham and New York last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Countryman of West Islip, L. I., Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Seward, Jr., and family of Upper Nyack, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Seward, Sr., on Huguenot street.

Miss Annie Christensen, who has been doing extension teaching in Tannersville, spent the spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Christensen.

Mrs. Andries LeFevre has been entertaining her niece, Miss Lucille Stephens of Poughkeepsie.

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Monday evening.

Elting Clearwater, who received severe burns while at work several weeks ago is getting along well, but is still ill at his home.

Mrs. Wayne Wiseman, who recently moved into the John MacFarland house on Central avenue, did not buy the property as was previously reported but has rented it.

The members of the Fellowship Club of the Methodist Church were guests of the Married People's Club called the Century Club of the Reformed Church Sunday evening. Rupert Stanley of Poughkeepsie Friends meeting, who spent many years in China and Japan as Y. M. C. A. secretary, spoke and led the discussion. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buchanan were in charge of the service.

The Fellowship Club held its regular meeting in the Methodist Church parlor Monday evening, April 13. The Official Board met at a later hour the same evening.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Ignorance of the law is no excuse for failure to register with Selective Service, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York state director of Selective Service, declared today.

He said that instances of evasion have been very few and have been due mainly to carelessness. Because of their experience he believes there will be even less failure on the part of men between the ages of 45 and 65 to register at the Fourth Registration, but wishes to emphasize that all men required to register are presumed to know the law.

"I wish to point out that on April 8th last, Attorney General Biddle declared that 'Before December 7, 1941, there was a disposition toward leniency for violators of the Selective Service Act where there was evidence that the violation was caused by carelessness. Today, such leniency is no longer justified."

"The United States attorneys have been instructed that the failure of any person to perform his necessary obligations under the act is to be examined in the light of the added degree of responsibility and loyalty imposed by conditions of war."

General Brown said that men between the ages of 45 and 65 must register on April 27, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. If they prefer, they may register on either April 25 or 26, between the hours of 1 and 6 p. m.

Declares Men Are Told To Loaf on the Job

Camden, N. J., April 17 (AP)—

John Green, president of the C. I. O. Shipyard Workers' Union, charged today that shipyard managements are hampering production and declared in some cases "men are definitely instructed by their bosses to loaf on the job."

In a letter to Congressman Carl Vinson, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, Green said managements "are not overly excited about expediting production since their costs are guaranteed and likewise their profits."

Orders "to loaf on the job" were given in some instances at the Bethlehem Company's yards at Fore River, Mass., and Staten Island, N. Y., Green said. A repair job on a Russian vessel at Bethlehem's Brooklyn yard "was deliberately stalled," he asserted.

He cited other instances of what he called "gross inefficiency" and "wasted man-power" at yards in Boston, Long Island and Mobile, Ala., and said the union had submitted a "large number of these cases to the appropriate government agencies, including the maritime commission, but have not heard of any action being taken."

Bronx Lumber Yard Fire

New York, April 17 (AP)—Three persons were treated for smoke poisoning early today after a Bronx lumber yard fire that caused an estimated $50,000 damage and routed more than 100 residents from their homes. The nearby Trinity Danish Lutheran Church also was damaged by the spreading flames.

Health Discussion Slated for Region

Nurse Groups and Others to Attend Session

Public health nurses and representatives of schools of nursing throughout this area will hear a discussion on the control of syphilis and gonorrhea at an institute to be conducted in Poughkeepsie on May 5, 1942, according to an announcement today by Dr. Hollis Ingraham.

The speaker for the institute will be Dr. William A. Brumfield of the New York State Department of Health.

Dr. Brumfield has emphasized that syphilis is one of the foremost causes of death in the human race but that it is encouraging to note that the 1940 annual report of the State Department of Health shows that the total number of cases of syphilis reported in New York state, exclusive of New York city in 1940, was 5,549 less than during 1936, a decrease of 30 per cent.

During this period the number of early cases has declined 55 per cent. Taking into consideration the factors of case finding, diagnosis and treatment, this reduction is believed to indicate an actual decrease in the prevalence of syphilis in New York state," Dr. Brumfield said.

"Gonorrhea is the dark horse of the infectious disease problem. There are no accurate statistics, but it is believed to be much more prevalent than syphilis. Its cost in money and misery is inestimable. However, considerable headway is expected to be made against this disease."

"Among the subjects to be discussed at the institute will be the value of new treatments for these two diseases, the presence or absence of unrecognized cases in the district, and the responsibility of the public health nurse in the field."

Motion pictures will be shown during the institute.

FRENCH CRISIS
Hitler, arraying his forces for a supreme effort to win this year, tightens his grip on France, puts Laval in the cabinet, weakens Premier Petain's resisting power and plots to take over the French fleet. He needs France in his business, and he holds trump cards in his grip on 1,500,000 French prisoners as hostages for France's good behavior.

The situation looks very dark in Paris. It will be dark in all western Europe if Hitler and his French henchmen have their way. If France is lost, democracy loses in Madagascar and on a dozen other fronts, the war will last longer, Britain, America, Russia and China will find their struggle much harder.

But France is not yet lost to freedom and civilization. A vast majority of the French people are true to their country and have faith in their liberation.

Our government, apparently abandoning its forlorn hope in the Vichy regime, now clearly acknowledges the situation and faces the problem. It warns Americans against being misled by Nazi efforts to divide our people and the French, and acknowledges the "sovereign jurisdiction" of the French people over the territory of France and its foreign possessions. It reminds them that:

"Only by the total destruction of the present criminal regime in Germany, and by the complete defeat of the armies of Germany and of the dictatorships which have allied themselves with Germany, can that hope be realized." It warns the loyal French against "that handful of Frenchmen who, in contempt for the high tradition of liberty and individual freedom which has made France great, have attempted to prostitute their country to that very regime in Germany which is bent upon the permanent enslavement of France." Such straight, true warnings should bear fruit.

FIRE FIGHTS ON AXIS SIDE
The rapid growth of volunteer civil defense groups is a fine thing for this country. It is showing people that the responsibility for preventing and dealing with disasters must be shared by all. People who used to think of fire as something which was exclusively the fire department's business, are learning that it is their own personal business.

It is natural and right that fire defense is one of the principal purposes of the entire civilian defense movement. America, like England, may one day be showered with incendiaries from enemy planes. Enemy agents within our own borders will unquestionably attempt sabotage on a wide scale, and fire is their main weapon. Unless the people are trained and ready, those agents will succeed—at a terrible toll in American life, American resources, American war production.

There is a saying in London to the effect that "every house is a fire house." That is the goal we must try for in our own country. And we must not think entirely in terms of enemy-started fires. The greatest present danger lies in the "normal" fires—the fires that are the result of human carelessness, human indifference, human ignorance, human failure of a hundred different kinds. These fires strike homes—and labor and materials must be diverted from the war effort to rebuild and repair. These fires strike factories—and the production of vital arms may be delayed. These fires strike farms—and the production of food for our Allies and ourselves is affected.

GAMES AND CARDS
Army authorities wish people would send games of all kinds for the recreation halls where the soldiers spend their time. Playing cards need not be new if they are in good condition. The same is true of the checkers and checker boards. What about those old chess men of Uncle Joe's? Uncle always thought chess improved the mind. He's doubtless improving some angel's mind—if heaven has any evenings—and he'd be delighted to have his old chess men pleasing and educating some soldier lad. What's left of the backgammon craze of a few years ago? Anything on the closet shelf? Don't send anything incomplete or broken, though. That's just an aggravation.

Darts and dart games are in favor with the boys at present. Perhaps because they call for skill in hitting a target. But anything in the way of games that can be enjoyed by soldiers in a recreation hall is useful.

Books, it goes without saying, are always in demand. But be sure they are good, and whole, and interesting. Don't waste rubber tires or railway space on trash. These are your boys—peppy, intelligent, up to the minute. They want fun—but they like to "improve their minds," in the old phrase, too. They cannot read all the time, though. They do need games. Why not break down and buy a dollar's worth of darts or new playing cards for your nearest U. S. O.?

SMILING THROUGH
Sir Stafford Cripps knows psychology. Not wanting publicity which might wreck his negotiations with the Indian leaders, he instructed all, on leaving the room, to smile happily. Reporters, having nothing else on which to base a story, would then be apt to write that all was going well.

This is in accordance with the latest ideas of psychological experts. They tell us that we do not, as might be supposed, frown because we are angry. It works the other way: we are angry because we frown. Cripps' method may solve many an Indian problem.

NO MORE SURPRISE
If a thing works once, try it again. That was evidently the Japanese idea when they tried in Ceylon to repeat the raid on Pearl Harbor. They forgot that the essential feature of their success in Hawaii was the surprise that comes from treachery.

That element of success the Japanese will never have again. Their enemies are on the lookout for Japanese raids, now and forever. The loss of 27 planes in Ceylon was only a sample of what they may be up against from now on.

CHRONIC SKIN ULCERS

Almost every week we are hearing and reading of the remarkable results obtained by the use of sulfanilamide and its close relations sulfathiazole, sulfapyridine and others.

While its effects in reducing deaths from pneumonia from almost ten per cent to almost two per cent is its most outstanding action, its effective use in local infections in ear, throat and other parts is being frequently reported.

One of the discouraging ailments in bed ridden and elderly patients is what is called decubital ulcers or bed sores, some of which are deep and absolutely refuse to heal despite rest and all forms of applications.

As sulfathiazole tablets have been effective in infected tonsils and sulfathiazole in ointments has helped infected bones (osteomyelitis), two Cleveland physicians, Drs. J. I. Goodman and J. F. Corsaro, report their results of using sulfathiazole in 5 patients who had these chronic ulcers for a long time.

These ulcers had been treated without success by other methods, one for as long as 21 months. These physicians crushed the ordinary sulfathiazole tablets into a powder and applied this powder daily by means of a salt shaker.

The quantity of the drug varied with the size of the ulcer, as sufficient powder to coat the ulcer completely was used. The amount varied from one to three level teaspoons.

"Almost immediately after the sulfathiazole powder was applied the infection cleared up and clean, healthy granulation tissue, followed by rapid healing, appeared."

Their success with the ordinary ulcer or bed sore led these physicians to use this method for 1 patient with chronic bone infection, 2 with slow healing ulcers of the feet due to injury, 1 with draining fistula or canal from a recently amputated stump, and 1 with a stubborn pyoderma sinus. This is a sinus or running sore at lower end of the spine.

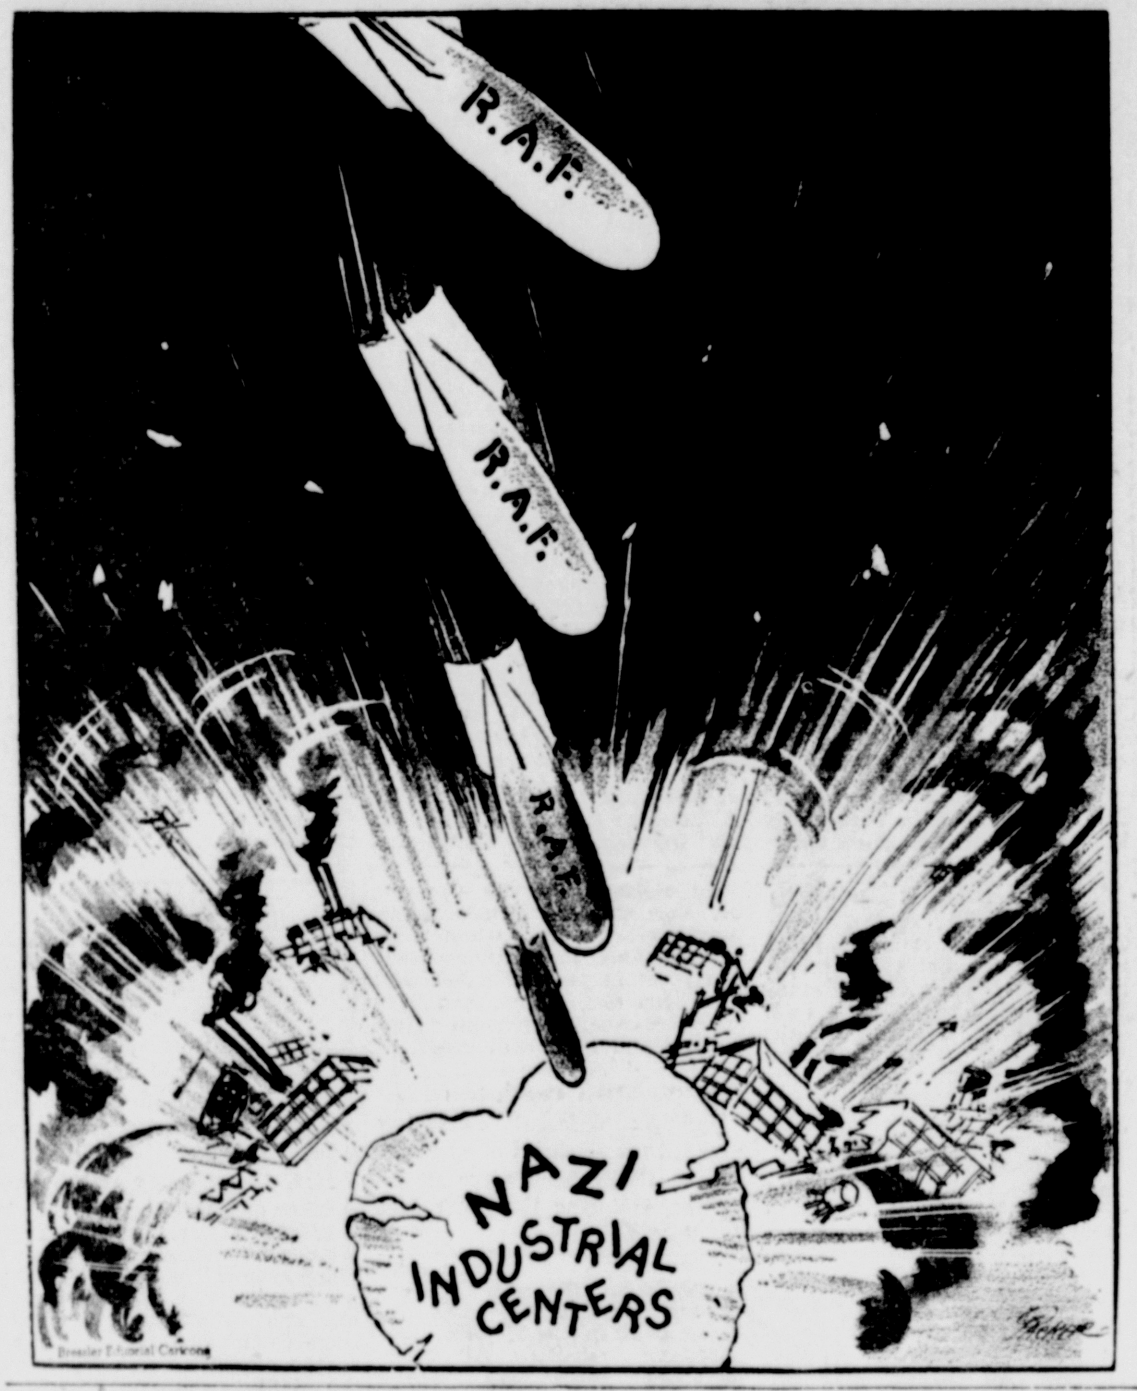

Five is not a large number, but these particular ulcers are always difficult and slow to treat yet "healing was rapid and complete in each patient."

This will certainly be good news for physicians and patients who have been "battling" with old chronic ulcers for long periods of time.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

GOOD NEWS FOR CORPORATIONS
Babson Says Standardization Increases Profits and Lowers Prices

Washington, D. C., April 17—Rationing is becoming a familiar word in our speech. Now standardization is to be its twin in the vocabulary of our war economy. We "ain't seen nothing yet" in the way of actual rationing or standardization. The necessity of doubling our industrial war production every 12 months and the importance of eliminating waste in luxury and non-essentials will shortly strip us of many things. Our heretofore free indulgence and mode of life, characterized by material abundance, should slowly but surely pass from the American family scene.

Face Facts, Forget Fancies
The U. S. A. has the greatest industrial production facilities in the world. It is also a large agricultural country although excelled in this respect by India and Russia. Our industrial activity in the past has been devoted to the production of goods of a peaceful nature. Almost overnight we have been obliged to about face and turn our industrial capacities and our agricultural output into a vast coordinated machine for waging an offensive war.

Great Britain and the United States have been such powerful peacetime nations that they have underestimated the war preparations of other countries. Furthermore, they have relied too much upon sending a boy to do a man's work. This has been true in diplomatic functions, and in the production of goods, and in the strategy employed in battle areas. The jobs and jars of recent weeks have done much to wake us up. We now face facts rather than continuance of fancy living. No longer will it be possible or fashionable to have two cars in the garage, two maids in the kitchen, and two mortgages on the house!

Frills Are Out
The elimination of waste in all forms is an important factor in winning the war. We should voluntarily give up the luxuries and non-essentials, the production of which interferes with war needs. It is necessary to provide labor supplies and productive facilities and storage space for the more important needs of war production. Hence, we have restrictions and standardizations in many, many lines of consumer goods.

Women's skirts will get shorter and their stockings may disappear. Men's suits, while pretty well standardized, will be cut on new lines to conserve cloth. Many liquid foodstuffs will appear as dried varieties packed in paper rather than in metal containers. Plywood and plastics will become standard substitutes for many certain wood working and chemical companies which are now being converted into sources of new supplies.

Get Accustomed to Changes
Consumer goods, especially personal and household effects, will show marked changes. Living habits and standards must be revised for the duration. Only in a broad general fashion do householders and civilians now know what's ahead for them. To the casual shopper, most department store and other retail shelves appear comfortably filled. Watch out, however, for scarcities when replacements become necessary. Substitutes and simpler standardized products will, however, be available and serve the purpose of countless present products.

This entire column could be devoted to lists of everyday items due for changes. In addition to the few already mentioned, there may be noted table silver, linens and blankets, kitchen utensils, personal clothing, furniture, tools, laundry necessities, electrical and mechanical appliances, dyes, medical and pharmaceutical supplies, building supplies, sporting goods and various foodstuffs. English families have discovered how well they can get along on how little. It has made them healthier and given them a direct part in their country's war effort. Surely we can do as well.

Good for Corporations
Manufacturers of consumer goods, now handicapped by price ceilings, will find on out in substitutes and in standardization. Priority restrictions on raw materials and price restrictions on finished products have raised havoc with manufacturing costs. Added to everything else has been rising wages and taxes. However, the simplification of merchandise, the use of substitutes, and the employment of more women will do much to maintain and even increase corporate profits.

The standardization of hundreds of consumer goods products will increase mass production possibilities. It will also eliminate many competitive practices. There is hardly a manufactured article of personal use which cannot be standardized and simplified and still serve its useful purpose. Beautiful brochures, gaudy paint and my granddaughter's costume jewelry may go by the board, but as sure as the sun will rise tomorrow the child will be just as happy with simpler substitutes.

In spite of taxes and restrictions, I continue bullish on corporation profits and dividends. Standardization and simplification will do much for them and for us all. Not only has every cloud a silver lining, but it's hard to lick our ingenious engineers and manufacturers.

When Is American Industry Going to Do Something on Profit Limitation
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 17 — When is American industry going to do something about the problem of profit limitation in war times? This question is being asked now because industrial and business leaders have been slow to perceive the rise of an adverse public opinion and may find it necessary to offer a defense long after the public has become prejudiced on the subject.

But the facts clearly indicate that profits on war contracts are in many cases too large and in some instances American corporations have been so bothered about it that they have voluntarily returned to the treasury vast sums.

The House naval affairs committee, of which Representative Vinson of Kentucky is chairman, has been doing a remarkable piece of prodding for the last several months and has managed to bring about a saving of $33,000,000 by the simple process of asking a few pertinent questions.

The reason why there are at times what are termed "unconscionable profits" is an interesting one and the public ought to be told about it for there is not the slightest excuse for concealment. The facts are these: Originally most all government contracts were awarded on competitive bids. On war work, however, involving as it does new facilities and in many cases entirely new processes, there was no time for competitive bidding. So the "negotiated contract" was substituted so as to get contracts placed promptly. Usually the war and navy departments selected manufacturers of proved ability and prestige and gave them the big contracts because of their record of efficiency in industrial production. But the question of cost could not be figured accurately in advance.

The truth is that on many negotiated contracts, the first figure asked has been a protective one. A company always wanted to make sure that the total price was big enough to cover every contingency. Yet when the products began to be poured out in quantity, the savings became stupendous.

There are cases in which new plant has to be paid for and the cost amortized over three or five years, especially where private companies have put up their own capital for plants that will become useless the day an armistice is declared. Apart, however, from reserves to be set up to take care of that kind of situation, the profits still are large in several well known cases.

American business men are under obligation to do something about the profit question. As yet little leadership has appeared. The cry to change the forty hour week has been met by the administration's statement that the matter of hours is a matter of dollars and cents and that the nation will pay the bill. To refute such an argument takes profits right and left without regard to the savings made by quantity production.

It has been contended that the tax bill will eat up most of the profit. But companies with big average earnings prior to the war have advantages over companies without such a record. Likewise companies with large amounts of invested capital have advantages over competitors not so fortunate.

When some of the larger corporations next year happen to show earnings in excess of profit, the public mind will be quick to see that the heavy excess profits taxes there will be much criticism. The subject is of even greater importance to the small business man who is struggling to pay back debts. For he is faced with heavier and heavier taxes really aimed at the big fellow but likely to impair the credit standing of the smaller business enterprise.

Labor's demands for higher wages will make quite a dent on the public mind if profits aren't soon limited either by voluntary action or by some revision of the negotiated contract system. (Reproduction rights reserved.)

Here's a Town Run by Women— And They Do It Without Taxes!

By ESCAR THOMPSON
Wide World Features

Spencer, Tenn.—An invitation to attend an old fiddlers' contest or to eat a box supper means to residents of this Cumberland Plateau town what an official demand to "pay your taxes" might elsewhere. This innovation in raising municipal revenue got its start in October, 1940, when eight civic-minded women got themselves elected to all the offices of the town government, abolished taxes and started sponsoring "benefits" for municipal purposes.

'They're Making Money!
Their plan has worked; there is a surplus in the treasury of more than $1,000, or about two dollars for each of the community's 508 inhabitants (1940 census), and now "Madam Mayor" and her associates are planning a communal building.

"Mountain men always help one another in building houses and things of that sort," said Mrs. J. M. Gordon, the mayor and a middle-aged housewife whose husband is a farmer.

"That's the way we intend to build our community house. The stone has been quarried and the men will put up the building whenever they can spare the time from their work. But we'll probably have to wait until after the war is over to get the heating and plumbing fixtures."

Took Over in 1940
An apathetic attitude on the part of the menfolk after former Mayor J. F. Kell died early in 1940 prompted the women to assume control of the town (county seat of Van Buren county) in the fall elections.

"No one seemed to know what was going to become of the city government after Mayor Kell died," Mrs. Gordon explained, "so some of us womenfolk consulted a lawyer and found out what to do."

As a result she was elected, along with Mrs. Laura Cook, chief of police; Mrs. Waldo Powers, recorder; and the following councilwomen: Mesdames T. F. Page, E. C. Lewis, Edgar Roscoe, W. H. Shackley and D. L. Bouldin.

The Skeptics Found Out
At first the men didn't pay much attention to this pettiest administration, apparently thinking the women would soon tire of their administrative duties.

But after they abolished the taxes and began accumulating a surplus with their "benefits," nods of approval came from the men.

J. L. Graham, the town banker, summed up what seemed to be the current consensus of the male population when he said of Mayor Gordon's administration:

"The ladies are doing fine. They're not going to have any opposition for a second term when they come up for re-election next October, either."

A Minor Point
There was some question as to whether the mayor actually resided within the town's corporate limits. She and her husband live on a hill overlooking Spencer.

But the townsfolk, it seems, just wink at this technicality. Said Graham:

"Her home might not be in the last survey of the city limits, but we sure count it a part of Spencer."

Official Mourning
When official mourning is ordered in the U. S. Marine Corps, officers place a crepe on their sword hilts. This has occurred often in honor of Leatherneck heroes.

Washington in Wartime
By Jack Stinnett

Washington — Back around 1800, with much creaking and groaning, something got under way that sociologists call the industrial revolution. Some scholars view it as a mixed blessing. Their theory is that there are too many machines, that this makes unemployment and misery.

Maybe so, but—
Don't go talking to Washington stenographers about too many machines!

There is one machine of which there are far, far too few. It is the common typewriter.

The government has hired nearly 40,000 stenographers and typists since Pearl Harbor. Although that's not a net increase, since some of them were replacements, there are enough new girls to put quite a drain on the typewriter supply.

Especially is this true since the War Production Board ordered typewriter production slashed. Last year about 730,000 standard and 530,000 portable machines were built. The government purchased 220,000 of them. The WPB order permits 325,000. The WPB and 75,000 portables this year. The Army and Navy are to get 68 per cent of the standards and 88 per cent of the portables, but both have indicated that isn't enough and that they may appeal to WPB for more.

To meet the shortage, WPB has authorized the Treasury's Procurement Division to ration typewriters to all agencies. In addition to the War and Navy Departments, the Maritime Commission, and Lend-Lease Administration are exempt.

Procurement has abolished its rule that government typewriters can be traded in after three years and has enlarged its repair shop. Meanwhile, Procurement, Budget Bureau and WPB are taking a census of the machines and considering how to get more use out of them. They are at least three possibilities:

1. Typewriters (and other office machinery) may be put on a two- or three-shift basis. This would also help solve the office space problem.

2. Typewriters may be taken away from secretaries who use them only an hour or so a day. Some of these machines would be placed in a room where several one- or two-hour secretaries could use them.

3. Machines may be taken away from non-war effort offices (although few will admit to not having a part in the war) and assigned to war agencies.

Procurement and WPB's Division of Civilian Supply, which drafted the typewriter cut order, are setting a good example. Procurement has put machine operation on a two-shift basis, and civilian supply keeps a record of each machine's working time. Those that are idle several hours a day are switched.

Too Enthusiastic

Newark, N. J., April 17 (AP)—The Victory Rally which the Newark Defense Council's Youth Auxiliary sponsored last night was so enthusiastic it will not be repeated. More than 4,000 high school boys and girls—1,000 had been expected—wedged into Central High School auditorium and caused so much clatter that some speakers gave up and others confined their remarks to pleas for quiet. Harold John Adonis, secretary of the council, announced later future Youth Auxiliary rallies would be confined to "more practical" smaller group meetings. Nevertheless, he said the meeting had been an immense success, at least from the harvest of hundreds of pounds of salvaged magazines and books and cigarettes brought in.

Four for Navy

New York, April 17 (AP)—Uncle Sam's navy will be glad to learn that three O'Connors and an O'Toole are going to enlist. Patrick, Roderic and Owen, sons of Andrew O'Connor, the late sculptor, and James St. Lawrence O'Toole of the O'Toole galleries are giving up art for war and will don uniforms at the close of a current exhibition for the benefit of the Navy League. The showing includes paintings by all three O'Connors.

Recreation Director Tells of Work Here

The Kiwanis Club was entertained at the noon meeting Thursday by Sidney Lutzin, director of recreation.

Mr. Lutzin recalled that four years ago he received the Kiwanis Achievement Award and that this has been a great encouragement to him in his work.

Four years ago, Kingston had only four playgrounds in unfinished lots, while today there are 16 complete recreation centers, well furnished and there are classes in wood working and other activities.

Every age and group is provided for. Several of the parks, including Forsyth, Hasbrouck, Lawton and Clearwater, have facilities for picnicking, and as people cannot travel much this summer, it is anticipated that these facilities will be appreciated and used.

In time of war Mr. Lutzin reminded the members that recreation was more important than ever. He appreciated the cooperation that the Kiwanis and other service clubs have given. The public is admitted to all ball games. It was suggested that contests in baseball, softball, horseshoe pitching, etc., be arranged among the various clubs.

At the suggestion of Joseph Fowler a marble rolling tournament was arranged for Abe Jensen, George Styles and Joseph Fowler.

Silver Stars Awarded Seven Bomber Pilots

U. S. Army Headquarters in Australia, April 17 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, commander of the United States army's Far Eastern air force, has awarded silver stars to seven bomber pilots for gallantry in dive-bombing against Japanese vessels off the southeast coast of Bali February 20 in the battle of Java.

Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire, the fliers scored nine direct hits and six near misses which considerably damaged 14 naval craft. One pilot, Second Lieut. Douglas B. Tubbs of Smithville, Miss., was killed when his plane dove into the ocean. Another dive-bomber crashed on a beach but its decorated pilot, Lieut. T. H. Lauder (no address given) reached Java in a small boat.

The names, issued by General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, also included these fliers: Lieut.-Col. Edward Backus, who was among the passengers brought here on the United States bombers returning from the Philippine raid;

Capt. Harry Galusha, Little Rock, Ark.; Lieut. Julius Summers, Somerville, Tenn.; Lieut. Robert Hambaugh (address unlisted); Lieut. James Ferguson, Deep River, Conn.

HIGHLANDPreparing Program

Highland, April 17 — The committee preparing for the 150th anniversary of the Presbyterian Church met Tuesday evening at the manse. This was the first meeting since December 12. Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail led in the discussion of plans for the week's observance which will open May 24 with the communion service at 10:45 o'clock. It is now planned to have a pageant that afternoon at the vesper hour when episodes in the life of the church beginning with its organization in 1792 will be given by the young people, led by Mrs. D. S. Haynes and Mrs. Vernon Baker. Tuesday, the 26th is the real organization date and that evening is observed as historical night. Mrs. A. W. Lent, local historian, will give the 150 years of church life and its organizations within the main church body. There will be representatives from the North River Presbytery and local clergy present to speak.

Thursday evening brings the old fashioned prayer meeting and the following Sunday the week ends with a praise service when it is expected a speaker will be present. The Rev. Mr. Haynes with chairman of committees will arrange the programs and prepare the invitations to be sent to all former members of the church and congregation. The present church was started in 1792 and called the Presbyterian congregation of New Paltz. This society became a Presbyterian church in 1808. The first place of worship was built on Vineyard avenue and used until 1844 when a new building was erected on the present site in the village. This was rebuilt in 1871. The new chapel was added in 1908 and the manse in 1912.

Study Club Meets

Highland, April 17 — Mrs. Howard Barton's prepared program on Tannehauser for the meeting of the Music Study Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Willard Burke was shortened from its original owing to the postponed meeting. The club opened by singing the "Star Spangled Banner" followed by the story of Tannehauser told by Mrs. Nathan D. Williams; vocal solo, "The Prayer of Penitence," Mrs. Irving Rathgeb; anecdotes of Wagner by Mrs. W. Herman Jordan; two piano duet numbers, "The March," and "Song of the Evening Star," Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Williams.

The club is making arrangements for a picnic to close their year which will take place about June 1. Present for the musical were: Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Franklin Walker, Mrs. A. W. Williams, Miss Julia Van Keuren, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Harry Colyer, Mrs. Oliver Kent, Miss Helen Kent, Mrs. N. D. Williams, Miss Edna Curry, Mrs. Burke and the co-hostess, Mrs. W. D. Bond. Tea was served at the close of the program.

Bert Cline Injured in Fall, Condition Good

Bert J. Cline, 73, was injured Thursday at noon in a fall down a flight of 17 steps of an inside stairway at his home, 1 Abel street. He was removed to the Benedictine Hospital in the Conner ambulance. His condition today was reported as good.

The police department received a telephone call at noon that a man had fallen down a flight of stairs, and Officers Elbert Soper and Edward Leonard in one of the radio cars drove to the house. According to their report later to police headquarters the aged man had been out shopping that morning and had returned home carrying a bottle of milk, some meat and newspapers. While going up the stairway he evidently slipped and fell to the bottom.

If life is not all that you think it should be, if you are compelled to work hard and are never free from responsibility, never solve all your problems—consider it all a privilege.

If you feel that all of the time you are working against certain odds, that you are going against the current, that it requires an unceasing battle to realize your ambitions—consider it all a privilege.

If the longer you live the more you are convinced you are in a world of law, obedience to which can bring you the only liberty that is worthy of the name, and that you must head, recognize, and conform to that law in every avenue of life—consider that condition a privilege.

If experience teaches you that there cannot possibly be gains in life without struggles, that nobody has ever found a short cut to success, that somebody pays the freight before somebody can deliver the goods—consider it a privilege.

If you cannot always have your own way in life, have never found the best in life nor your real inner self—consider that a privilege.

If the prayer of your life through the years was not answered, and you believed you were right; and none but the Divine One could change your viewpoint and therewith the whole course of your life—consider that treatment a privilege, and a blessing.

If and when your country calls you, asks you to sacrifice for it, that it may sacrifice for you, tells you to hand over your time, your talent, your money, your services, your life if need be, that honor may be vindicated and liberty enthroned—consider it a privilege.

If you are tempted times without number to seek the easy course but instead turn aside to join the few that pass through the strait gate and down the narrow way that leads to life, and thereby become the real master of the situation, with a soul that you can call your own, and live a life that enriches the world—consider such a decision a privilege and the crowning attainment of your life.

Jack—My Dear, when I married you, I thought you were an angel. Helen—I expect you did. You seem to think I can get along without any clothes or hats.

My Game and Me
I play a game of "let's pretend" when family duties irk. Or obligations to a friend is what I'd like to shirk. . . . I make believe I want to do the tasks I am not partial to! I make believe that I am glad; I sternly say to me, "This service will not be so bad if tackled cheerfully." And joy or tasks I often find is nothing but my state of mind!

Knowledge. Try to put well in practice what you already know; and in so doing, you will in good time discover the hidden things you now inquire about. Practice what you know and what you have learned, and in the course of time this will help to make clear that which you do not know.

Foreman—Late again, O'Malley. How do you account for it? O'Malley—It's inherited, sir. You see my father was the late Patrick O'Malley.

Lend to fight and win.

Our mistakes. Any man worth his salt will stick up for what he believes right, but it takes a slightly bigger man than that to acknowledge instantly, fully, and without a single reservation that he is in error.

Mother—Gracie, I told you not to let that strange man come over to your apartment last night. It's things like that that cause me to worry.

Gracie—Now, mother, don't be silly. I went over to his apartment. Now, we can let his mother do all the worrying.

Chapter Eight

Conflict

KURT was waiting for them at the entrance to the Officers' Club.

"Hello, everybody, aren't you nice to come?" he said and Stephanie imagined for a moment that he was saying it directly to her. But then Vicky spoke up.

"Aren't you nice to ask us to come?" and linked her arm through his possessively.

Stephanie just went on smiling while she prayed her own thrilled excitement didn't show.

Kurt took them first into the huge lounge where officers and their guests hovered around the big fire burning briskly in the great stone fireplace.

"Want you to meet some of my pals," Kurt said and introduced several young officers and their pretty wives.

Stephanie acknowledged introductions automatically while her mind was busy with details of Kurt's easy charm, the very obvious devotion some of the men had for him, and from all directions he was hailed with hearty greetings, or flatteringly charming smiles.

Not that Vicky wasn't doing her all to intercept his attention, keep it riveted on herself.

And, Stephanie noticed, she wasn't doing a bad job either. Vicky knew all the angles. She could maintain a sparkling stream of light chatter apparently indefinitely and keep everyone laughing, watching her pretty features.

While her tongue-tied cousin stood stupid as an owl, Stephanie beamed herself silently.

She sat next to Kurt at dinner. But with Vicky on his right, Kurt might as well have been in the next county. Stephanie forced an animated conversation with Henri Bay about which she knew little and cared less.

And then Kurt did murmur, under the cover of general conversation, "Haven't you even a word to throw my way, or are you going to talk to him about boats and bait all evening?"

Stephanie heard the smile in his voice but she didn't dare look up lest he see the wanton hunger in her eyes. So she buttered a bit of roll deliberately.

"Better to talk about bait than to swallow it," she flipped and then could have bitten her tongue out. It sounded so sarcastic.

He looked at her quickly—a little flicker of scorn from the corner of his eye. "Some bait's pretty tempting," he said coolly and then smiled as a tide of color surged into Stephanie's cheeks and the bite of roll caught in her throat.

Torment
CHOKING, she gulped water frantically. But it burst forth noisily, attracting everyone's attention and bathing Stephanie's flushed cheeks in a stream of helpless tears.

Kurt, patting her back gently, finally drew her to her feet, led her out of the dining room into an open court beyond.

"Sounds as if you'd been trying to swallow something that wasn't good for you, yourself?" he teased a moment later when her coughing had subsided a little.

"I'm sorry," she gasped dragging at her breath, "Embarrassed to have made—such a scene."

He laughed. "Forget that." And pulling her hand through his arm, "Let's walk out here. Give you time to get your breath and—" he glanced down at her with a wide grin,—"your nose powdered!"

Still mopping at her eyes and not at all sure that the tears were entirely from the coughing, Stephanie fought hard for control.

"It's lovely out here," she managed finally as they walked through the gardens toward the tiled pool winking in the moonlight.

"Seen our new swimming pool before?" Kurt asked as they stood looking down into its mysterious shadows.

"No. It looks wonderful."

"Will you try it some day?"

"I'd love to."

"Good." Then with a slow smile, "Maybe I'll have a chance to rescue you from drowning. Or—do you swim better than you drive automobiles?"

"If you don't stop talking about that accident, I'll—I'll—"

"You'll what?" he prompted, watching her from behind a wide grin.

Stephanie faced him, chin up. "I'll think up some horrible torture for you—like—"

Hands grasping her elbows, he suddenly drew her toward him. "You needn't do that."

"Why not?"

"Because you're almost unbearable to torment for me right now." Startled at the sudden fierceness of his grasp, Stephanie watched a stern gravity replace his smile, saw his blue eyes go black with a strange new passion.

"You knew that, didn't you, Stephanie?" he said after a moment of silence that ruled down old barricades between them.

Stephanie, not trusting her tongue, shook her head. Then felt her heart stop as she saw in his eyes what he was going to say.

"You're everything a man could want in a girl, Stephanie Merrill. You're sweet, you're pretty, you're—real. It would be the easiest thing in the world to fall in love with you."

Not daring to breathe, Stephanie waited, her pride shattering arms that wanted to creep around his neck. Because somewhere deep inside a warning persisted.

Kurt's next words justified that warning.

"You're the one girl in the world I'd hoped I would never meet."

"But—why?" Stephanie gasped. For a long moment his eyes searched her face in the silvery light. "In a flyer's life there is no place for a woman."

Lady Eagle
STEPHANIE reached for lightness to cover the terrible hurt that stabbed deep. "Not even the 'one girl in the world'?" She tried hard to send a little laugh after that, but the sound broke in her throat like a sob.

"Not even the one girl, Stephanie," he released her slowly. "Women naturally want to put down roots. A flyer can't."

She shrugged, a little masterpiece of carelessness. "After all, even eagles have nests."

He laughed then, the seriousness gone, the banter returned to his voice. "Right you are. But somehow I don't think I could become deeply attached to a lady eagle!"

Stephanie laughed too and it helped her over the next few moments.

"A flyer is always a little bawdy, you know," he went on as, drawing her hand through his arm, he strolled back toward the Club. "That's proven by my thinking that maybe if I hung around long enough, I could make you like me a little."

Stephanie's mind threw a cord around her rioting emotions. "Maybe—a little," she managed lightly.

"And then every time I took a plane up, I'd break a little part of your heart. Until, watching your life become continual worry, I'd know I'd given a hostage to fortune and I'd have to choose between my life and yours."

"Smart boy," she said, chin up, smile steady. "But since I'm not really interested in men who have propellers where their hearts ought to be, suppose you take me back to Henri?"

Kurt scowled. "If I must have a rival, why pick on a stuffed shirt like that? I don't approve of—"

Coolly, Stephanie asked, "Must I have your approval?"

Kurt's anger, his scorn, his hatred—even-anything but this cool indifference, this reasoning her out of his life. Treating love as if it were something you could pigeon-hole and forget about.

Searching frantically, her eyes found Henri, beckoned him. And, desperate lest her pride prove too weak for her rebellious heart, she held out her hand to Henri before she went down on her knees to Kurt.

O'Hare in U. S. Enjoying Vacation

One-Man Naval Air Force Rejoins Young Wife

Phoenix, Ariz., April 17 (AP)—Back in war conscious America today, husky handsome 20-year-old Lt. Edward H. O'Hare, the navy's No. 1 air hero, fondly many peace-time memories in the Salt River Valley of Arizona, where he wooed and won his bride of seven months, the former Rita Wooster of Muscatine, Ia.

"I'm on a vacation, and boy does it feel good," declared O'Hare, after he and his wife fondly embraced at the airport when he arrived by airliner from San Francisco last night.

Tears shone in Mrs. O'Hare's eyes as she greeted her husband, whom she had not seen since the war's outbreak. They were tears of happiness, though.

"Oh, Butch, it's so good to see you again," she said.

Modest Butch, the one-man naval air force whose exploit of downing six Japanese planes in one afternoon off the Gilbert Islands brought him world renown, was anxious for some rest and relaxation.

"Let's not talk about my experiences," he said, "It's a family reunion, you know."

One of his first questions was for the health of his sisters' children, born since his departure from the States. The sisters, Mrs. Paul Palmer and Mrs. Phil Towre, both of Phoenix, accompanied Mrs. O'Hare to the airport.

There was much speculation among members of the family, just before O'Hare's arrival, as to his Washington, D. C., mission. Belief was expressed that he might be in line for a high navy decoration, but O'Hare only laughed when this was later suggested to him.

He declared he has no idea why he had been summoned from the Hawaiian Islands to Washington, adding:

In the navy, you go where you're ordered.

O'Hare is scheduled to report in Washington April 14, but will spend most of the interim here.

Many Commando Raids on Coast Never Reported

New York, April 17 (AP)—Many Commando raids along the Nazi-occupied coast are never reported, a British army major told the American Society of Newspaper Editors today in describing the work of the war's most famous dare-devils.

"Many raids take place about which the Germans say nothing," Major R. V. Boyle said, "but merely because they are not broadcast either in Germany or England does not stop the stories and rumors spreading throughout the German troops in France. I would like to add that many more small raids used to take place than ever appeared in the papers."

Declaring that the Commandos "have got to be tough—really tough," Major Boyle said the most important characteristic of the men was their ability to meet any situation and if necessary to meet it alone.

Of the personnel, 99 per cent come from England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland with the others from Canada and Australia.

"These men," he said, "sleep where they stop. Each carries some food but often have to be out for long periods and so have to learn to fend for themselves. For that reason they are taught to kill, skin, cut up and cook animals they can catch. They have only a knife and a box of matches to do it."

"They certainly make the Germans jumpy. One night a party of Germans were riding their bicycles on their way to take over duty in one of their concrete defense posts. They were laughing and talking as they free-wheeled down a hill with a bend in it. As they rounded that bend, a burst of fire from a Tommy gun greeted them. Not one of them finished his ride. Now just imagine the feeling of other German bicycle patrols and reliefs when the story spread around. And they certainly do spread around."

Commandos may be called upon to operate under almost any conditions, he said, and may have to work and fight in snow, in mountains, in deserts, in jungles or swamps, on beaches, in streets, or on normal terrain.

A railway in Nigeria recently ordered 14,000 hand-sawn railway ties because steel ones are not to be had in wartime.

Feed Warehouse Fire Here

Freeman Photo

Fire, which was confined largely to the office in a 30x50 foot addition to the L. C. Dixon feed warehouse and G. L. F. agency near the O. & W. depot early this morning did damage estimated at around $2,000 or more.

The fire was discovered about 1:30 by Officers Sammons and Hoffay, who were passing in the patrol car. Firemen under Chief Murphy made a quick response to the alarm and did a good piece of work in limiting the fire mostly to the office and some charring in the partition and underneath the roof on the second floor where the fire had run up the siding from the office below.

Office equipment was pretty well ruined, including a cash register, adding machine, billing machine, desks and furniture. The main books and records apparently escaped uninjured.

There was some loss to feed piled in the rear portion of the new addition, where bags on the bottom of the piles were soaked with water.

Origin of the fire was not fully determined, but Mr. Dixon thought it might have started in a telephone box on the floor underneath a desk at the front of the office. Loss is covered by insurance.

Dilling Clan Has Fuss but No Feud

Blond and Such Figure in Bitter Words

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—The Dilling clan got in and out of court yesterday without trading a single punch or putting the clerk to work drawing up contempt orders.

But that didn't mean the matinee put court fans to sleep. The judge was asked to cite son Kirkpatrick Dilling, 22, for contempt and a woman identified only as a "Miss Y" was described in testimony as "that damned blonde" and "that bleached, gold-digging, home-wrecking Miss Y." The court said it would rule on the contempt citation later.

Albert W. Dilling, attorney and consulting engineer, and Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkpatrick Dilling, crusading editor of "The Red Network" are suing each other for divorce. At the last hearing Mrs. Dilling was cited for contempt twice in 30 seconds. Kirkpatrick scuffled with bailiffs and daughter Elizabeth, 16, came out of the melee in tears.

Yesterday Elizabeth related that on January 13 when her father came home late, her mother cried: "I suppose you've been out with that bleached, gold-digging, home-wrecking Miss Y. If you want her, for heaven's sake, go and take her and leave me alone."

Kirkpatrick said that two days ago his father slapped him in the face "for referring to that damned blonde." He said he also had told his father "the only thing you can do is go out and shoot yourself—you've ruined the family—ruined it for good."

The son said he also informed his father he has "distinguished himself as 'the a-heel of all time' and that his mother had been

"smeared from coast to coast by your gang." Dilling's attorney demanded an explanation of what he meant by "gang." When the youth said he referred to the attorney, Dilling, and two others, the attorney asked for a contempt citation.

Oratorio Society Will Sing "Elijah"

"Elijah" by Mendelssohn is the oratorio which the Kingston Oratorio Society will give in concert this year. The program will be given Tuesday evening, May 12, under the direction of George Fowler of Poughkeepsie.

"Elijah" is probably the most popular of all of Mendelssohn's compositions. It was finished in 1846 and performed for the first time that year at the Birmingham Festival in England.

The story depicts the life of the Old Testament prophet, Elijah, set to music ranging from the fiery pagan cries of the followers of Baal to the ethereal choruses of the angels. Among the prominent events of the oratorio are the drought prophecy, the raising of the widow's son, the scene of the rival sacrifices to Baal and to God, the coming of rain in answer to Elijah's plea, Jezebel's persecution of Elijah, the journey in the desert and the disappearance of Elijah in the chariot of fire.

The Oratorio Society will have as its narrator this year the Rev. Russell Gaenzle, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. The program will be given in St. James Methodist Church and as in former years the concert is entirely complimentary.

Farewell Party Given

A large number of the younger set joined together at Fiore's Grill, East Kingston to give a farewell party in honor of the boys who left for induction into the army. Those who were inducted were Joseph Guido, Joseph Ferrendino, Michael Pugliese, Thomas Tiano, Joseph Mazzucca, John Tierney, Joseph Muccio, and Michael Gallo. A large delegation also accompanied the selectees to Saugerties, Wednesday, when Mrs. Katherine Acker of East Kingston donated the use of a bus for conveyance.

The Elks' Auxiliary Celebrates Sixth Annual Banquet

The Elks' Auxiliary of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. E., held its 6th annual banquet at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Wednesday evening. The chairman of the banquet committee, Mrs. William Lunney, welcomed the ladies. The banquet was then opened with all members singing "God Bless America."

A turkey dinner was served at tables decorated with pink carnations and ferns. Mrs. Lunney presented the past president, Mrs. Vincent Connelly, with a past-presidents pin. Mrs. Connelly thanked her committee for their cooperation during the past year, and wished the new president, Mrs. C. P. Roche a successful year. An interesting program of dances was given by the pupils of Mrs. Helen Cashin Davitt, accompanied at the piano by Miss Kathryn Sheppard. The numbers presented were "The Heart of a Rose" and "The Rose of Tralee" and "Wishing." Both young ladies are pupils of Mrs. William Rieser. Miss Gloria Knapp also sang two solos, "The White Cliffs of Dover" and "I Don't Want to Walk Without You."

Former New Paltz Student Is Married at Walden

Walden, April 16—Miss Dorothy M. Conklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Conklin of Walden, and Walter H. Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sutton of Walden, were married Sunday afternoon, April 12, at 2 o'clock. The ceremony was performed in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Walden, by the Rev. A. A. Frier.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle with a fingertip veil. She carried a white prayerbook with a spray of white gardenias and sweet peas. Miss Thelma Conklin, who acted as maid of honor, wore a pink organza gown. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Harold Stuart acted as best man.

Mrs. Sutton is a graduate of Walden High School and attended New Paltz Normal School. She is employed in the Spence Engineering Co. Mr. Sutton is also a graduate of Walden High School and is at the Walden Grand Union Store.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside at 42 Albany avenue, Walden.

Girls' League Entertained At Tea for Ulster Classis

The Girls' League for Service of the Fair Street Reformed Church was hostess at a Yepper Tea, Sunday, for all the Girls' Leagues for Service groups in the Ulster Classis.

As this was the first meeting of the league union for the Classis, election of officers was held. The following were selected for the coming year: Miss Marguerite Randegger of Bloomington, president; Miss Doris Corwin of New Paltz, first vice president; Miss Helen Atkins of New Paltz, second vice president; Miss Evelyn Short of Fair Street Reformed Church, recording secretary; Miss Elsie Mould of Fair Street Reformed Church, corresponding secretary; Miss Dorothea Zaengle of Rosendale, treasurer.

An executive meeting has been called for the last Sunday in April to be held at the Bloomington church. Plans will be made at this time for the coming year.

Mrs. A. Noble Graham, president of the Missionary Union of the Ulster Classis, was guest of honor at the tea. The devotional program was conducted by the Misses Doris Corwin, Elise Mould and Elizabeth Kachigian. Mrs. William Eltinge at the piano accompanied the singing.

Lynn-Spencer
Marlborough, April 17—On Easter Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Miss Erma Spencer became the bride of John Lynn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynn of West street, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Spencer, on the Lattingtown road. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Elwood Corning, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride wore a gown of blue lace over pink satin with blue accessories and a corsage of white roses and sweet peas. The matron of honor, Mrs. James V. Wilson, sister of the groom wore a gown of dusty pink crepe with blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. James V. Wilson was best man.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn left for a short wedding trip and are making their home with the groom's parents on West street.

Mrs. Lynn is a graduate of the Marlborough Central School and Spencerville Business School, Newburgh and is employed in the First National Bank of Marlborough. Mr. Lynn attended the local school and for the past several years has been employed as mechanic in the Marlborough Garage.

Card Parties

Weiner Hose

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Weiner Hose will hold a public card party at the Central Fire Station, West O'Reilly street, Friday night, April 24, at 8:15 o'clock.

Dr. Lawrence Early Weds Miss Margaret Britt, R.N.

The church of Saints Donation and Rogation in Randolph, Vt., was the scene of a pretty spring wedding, Monday morning, April 13, when at 9 o'clock, Miss Margaret E. Britt, R.N., of Hudson and West Hurley, was married to Dr. Lawrence J. Early. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bernard Nangle, pastor of St. John's Church, West Hurley, assisted by the Rev. John Fitzgerald of St. Mary's Seminary in Randolph.

Attending the bride was her sister-in-law, Mrs. James J. Britt of Albany and the bridegroom's best man was Lawrence J. Early, Jr., of Hudson. Music was furnished by the Brothers Choir of St. Mary's Seminary. Brother Joseph Britt, brother of the bride and Brother Vincent O'Reilly of St. Michael's College, Winoski, Vt., served as acolytes and James Early, son of the bridegroom served the nuptial Mass which followed the ceremony.

A reception was held at "The Maples" in Randolph following the ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. Early will make their home in Hudson.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's Academy and the Nurses Training School of Hudson City Hospital. She has been assistant administrator of the hospital for several years. She is a daughter of Mrs. Ellen O'Reilly of West Hurley and sister of Dr. James J. Britt of the Anthony Brady Memorial Hospital in Albany. Dr. Early is a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Early of Schenectady and has been a practicing physician in Hudson for a number of years.

Several clergymen were present at the wedding and reception including the Very Rev. John A. McCarthy and the Rev. Sigmund Osewiski of Hudson, the Rev. Bernard Nangle of West Hurley, the Rev. John Gaffigan of Averill Park, the Rev. Daniel Lyons of Winoski Park, Vt., the Rev. William Fox, the Rev. J. McCue of Randolph. Other guests present were Dr. and Mrs. John L. Edwards, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Gallop, Attorney and Mrs. Lewis McNamee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Guild, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Snyder, the Misses Julia L. Dougherty, Frances Phillips, Alice Mullins and Mrs. Gertrude Stuppelbeem of Hudson; Mrs. Ellen O'Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Joyce of West Hurley; Mr. and Mrs. James Joyce of Fleischmanns; Miss Rosalind Joyce of Catskill; Mrs. Elizabeth Early, James Early, Attorney and Mrs. Joseph Early of Schenectady; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Early of Syracuse.

Miss Elizabeth Early of Philadelphia, Pa.

Pinkey-Givens

On Monday evening, March 23, in Tompkins Cove, the Rev. W. H. Oliver, pastor of the Tompkins Cove Methodist Church, united in marriage Miss Eleanor Givens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Givens of Marlborough, to Corporal Charles Pinkey, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Pinkey of Claville, Pa.

The bride wore a beige suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of orchids. The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Segal of Duryea, Pa., wore a grey suit, with navy blue accessories and a corsage of tea roses.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served in Haverstraw. Mr. and Mrs. Pinkey will reside in Nyack. Mrs. Pinkey attended the local school and is now employed in Pompton Lakes, Corporal Pinkey is stationed at Iona Island.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Greenwald of 49 Wurts street will be "at home" Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

A farewell party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paradies, Tillson, Tuesday evening, in honor of Mr. Paradies' sons, William and Howard, who are to be inducted into the army. About 21 relatives were present.

Pvt. Frank Ryndak, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryndak of Locust avenue, is spending a furlough with his parents. He is stationed at Norfolk, Va.

Miss Irene Raiche of 65 Spruce street is on the shorthand honor roll for the month of March at Albany Business College.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Chilson and son of 24 Delta place are spending a few weeks with relatives in Birmingham, Ala.

A farewell party was given Saturday evening, April 11, for LeRoy Curdin, son of Mrs. Ella Curdin of 44 Meadow street. The party was held in the Uptown Jewish Center on Fair street. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening spent.

Kenneth Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hughes of 8 Green street, who is taking an aeronautical course at Tri-State College in Indiana, was recently accepted for elementary course in civilian pilot training at the college. His many friends will be pleased to hear that he has soloed successfully.

place, but it will now be very quiet. Will you tell us the wording of the notice to his effect?

Answer: Owing to their sudden bereavement M. and Mrs. John Smith are obliged to recall the invitations to the wedding of their daughter.

Marking Writing Paper
Dear Mrs. Pitt: I prefer single sheets of letterpaper for personal letters, and like those marked with my initials. I wonder about the second sheet of paper—should this be left plain but otherwise a matching sheet or is each sheet marked the same way?

Answer: Stamped first sheet and blank sheets following are quite correct. People who write many-page letters often order as much as three-quarters of plain paper for use with each quire of stamped paper and each package of envelopes.

Be sure that your stationery and phraseology is correct whenever you write a letter. Send for Emily Post's book: "The Etiquette of Letter Writing," enclosing ten cents in coin and a three-cent stamp to cover postage and handling. How to Sign Visitor's Book
The way to sign a visitor's book depends upon the type of book. If it is one that formal visitors sign instead of leaving their cards—as at an Embassy or in calling on "Royalty" for example—when in their home town they write their names exactly as they are entered on their visiting cards: "Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith, 2 Park Square; or "Miss Cordelia Jones, or if they are visitors they write Blank Hotel or wherever they are staying. Brightmeadows Road." All visitors' books in public places are signed the same way with name and title in full, but with name of home town and state replacing the definite house (or temporary hotel) address.

The visitors' book in the house of a friend is signed without title; Helen Montgomery Smith; John Henry Smith; Cordelia Jones. This is the way one's name is signed at a wedding or christening. The visitors' book of a house in which many people of talent have been guests, is usually filled with drawings and verses—serious and flippant—treasures of value next to no-account scribbles or doggerel. The names are all signed without title—often without surnames—often at the end of sketches or verses with initials only.

Recalling a Wedding Invitation
Dear Mrs. Post: Invitations to the wedding of our daughter have been sent out. This morning my wife's mother passed away and of course the wedding plans have to be changed. The wedding is taking place at the appointed time and

Fantastic Things Happen In Early Days of Baseball Season; Sox Score 19 Runs

Reds Knock Pittsburgh Out of First; Flock 'Walks' to Victory Over Giants

(By The Associated Press)

Fantastic things happen during the first few days of every baseball season when the major league clubs are trying to shake out their spring kinks.

Take a day like yesterday. The Boston Red Sox scored 19 runs for what may stand all season as the largest score by one club. The victims were the Philadelphia Athletics, who scored four runs for exercise, certainly not for competition.

The Red Soxers, who had ripped out 24 hits in their first two games with the A's made 21 yesterday and tallied in every turn at bat except the second inning. Ted Williams hit his second home run of the season and Dominic DiMaggio posted one.

It would be easy to compose an essay on the bright future promised Boston by this slugging except for the fact that it was accomplished against nondescript pitching. Old Connie Mack started a young fellow named Fred Cagioni, who pitched in a Class "C" league last year. After the Red Sox scored five runs in the first inning, Mr. Mack sent out Lester McCrabb and when he couldn't stop the raid, the old gentleman simply refused to waste any more pitchers trying to keep down the score. Or maybe he was disciplining McCrabb for being a holdout a couple of months back.

Other Wild Games

There were other wild games—in fact five of the day's eight encounters produced from 22 to 28 hits—but some extraordinary recognition ought to go to the 12-inning struggle which Cincinnati captured 8-7 from Pittsburgh to knock the Pirates out of their share of the National League lead.

At the end of the fourth inning the Pirates were leading 7-5. Gerald (Gee Gee) Walker finally tied the score, however, with a home run in the last of the ninth and the rivals rambled on into overtime with Manager Frank Frisch of the Buccaneers deploying his pitchers with customary abandon.

Came the last of the 12th and Aldon Wilkie became the fifth Pirate fliker. He served a single to Frank McCormick and walked two men to load the bases. When he sailed two wide ones at Eddie Joost, Frisch hastily rushed in big Max Butcher, who had outpitched Bucky Walters with a six-hit stint opening day. Butcher lost no time pitching two more balls and the game was over.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won the rubber game of their series with the New York Giants in the same fashion. Two rookies, Ed Head of the Dodgers and lefty Dave Koslo of the Giants were locked in a 2-2 tie coming into the ninth—chiefly because Manager Mel Ott had offset Koslo's wildness by personally knocking in both New York runs, first with a single and later with a home run. Koslo loaded the bases by giving two singles and a walk, then forced across another run with a pass. Ace Adams relieved him and promptly yielded another walk and Brooklyn triumphed 4-2.

Yanks Win Again

The New York Yankees had a strange game—for the world champs. Manager Joe McCarthy gave the starting signal to Lefty Gomez, the veteran who led the American League in percentage last season with the help of Johnny Murphy. Washington wheeled one run in every one of the first five innings and the Yankees batters had to keep busy themselves to stay abreast the Senators. Marvin Breuer relieved Gomez and muzzled the Senators and in the ninth the Yanks set off their cannoncrackers—a single, two doubles and a triple—to win 8-5.

Rookie Vernon Stephens hit his second home run in two days as the St. Louis Browns humiliated the Chicago White Sox again 13-3. Rudy York hit his second round tripper in two days and rookie Don Ross connected for one in the eighth inning to provide the margin of a 5-4 victory for Detroit over Cleveland.

The St. Louis Cardinals won a track meet from the Chicago Cubs 11-6. Each team made 14 hits and three errors.

And who do you suppose had the mightiest, best played contest of the day? The Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils. It went ten innings and Boston triumphed 2-1 with old Ernie Lombardi driving in both the Braves runs with singles.

A.A.U. Liberalizes Rules for Amateurs Serving in Forces
New York, April 17 (AP)—An eight-point agreement liberalizing the rules for amateur athletes in the nation's armed forces during the war has the approval of the executive committee of the A.A.U.
The agreement, worked out a week ago by Major General M. A. Reckford, commanding general of the Third Corps Area, and a special A.A.U. committee, was passed unanimously by the executive committee in a mail ballot completed yesterday.
In effect, the A.A.U. has agreed that a man's amateur status while in service shall not be affected by his participation with or against professionals in service events or informal games.
Philadelphia—Billy Carrigan, 157½, Baltimore, and Tony Cisco, 167½, Norristown, Pa., drew, (8).

K.B.A. Will Hold Banquet on May 14

Date Has Been Shifted From May 11

According to word from Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Bowling Association, the annual dinner dance of the K. B. A. has been shifted from Monday, May 11 to Thursday, May 14. After the first date had been proposed and generally accepted, it was announced that the ladies, who plan on attending the annual banquet, would be forced to attend two banquets in as many nights if the K. B. A. date remained unchanged. The banquet, therefore, will begin at 7 o'clock on May 14 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Central Rec Loop Elects Its Officers

Walt May, Veteran Kegler, Is Chosen President

At a meeting of the Central Rec Bowling League this week the following officers were named: Walt May, president; Louis Bruhn, vice president; Ken Van Etten, secretary; and Joe Messinger, treasurer. During the meeting Mac Tiano was elected as delegate to represent the league at the local A. B. C. elections. Final arrangements for the third annual banquet of the league which will be held Tuesday night, April 21, at the Barn, were completed. Mayor William F. Edelmuth will be guest speaker. A very successful season was reported by the past officers of the league.

Cartel Agreement Stops Arms Sales To Great Britain

Washington, April 17 (AP)—A justice department attorney told committee today that an international cartel agreement between German interests and the Remington Arms Company, controlled by E. L. du Pont de Nemours and Company, had impeded American sales of military ammunition to England and other parts of the British empire. Allen Doherty, special assistant to the attorney general in the anti-trust division, testified that the agreement permitted sale of ammunition to England "for shooting grouse, quail, ducks and for target practice. But Remington may not sell ammunition containing tetracene to Great Britain for the purpose of shooting Germans."

The witness explained that tetracene was a priming composition for firearms and munitions and asserted that an agreement involving the German patent on the compound produced these results: Prevented sales of tetracene-primed ammunition to the British purchasing commission until recently. Gave a German company access to military information through Remington Arms Company royalty payments to the German company. A German company may collect royalty on ammunition sold to the United States army. Doherty's charges surprised members of the Senate committee and Senators Lucas (D-Ill.), LaFollette (Prog-Wis.) and Bone (D-Wash.) asked if the agreement still was operating.

Is Fined $5
Frank Patchell, who told the police his address was 95 Foxhall avenue, was picked up last night at Cy's Diner on Broadway at Chester street, charged with public intoxication. This morning in police court Judge Matthew V. Cahill fined him $5. Sam Feldman of Franklin street, charged with failing to observe a red traffic light, posted bail for appearance later in court.

Local V.F.W. Post Names Officers

Election to Take Place at End of Month
Abraham H. Lipgar was nominated last evening as commander of Joyce-Schrick Post, No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to succeed Charles B. Skane, who has now completed his second term in office. The nomination meeting of the Post was held at the Elks' Club on Fair street. Others nominated were George Planthaber, senior vice commander; Al Faloutico, junior vice commander; Edward J. Wortman, quartermaster; Edward J. Ross, post advocate; George McCullough, chaplain; William Whitten, post surgeon; and Martin O'Brien, officer of the day. All of the nominations were unanimous.

The election will take place on Thursday evening, April 30, at the Hotel Eichler and appointments will be made by the new commander following the election and installation. A banquet will be served following the business meeting which will start at 8 o'clock. Plans are now being made by the Post for the annual dance to be held the latter part of June.

Gerald O'Neil Is Found Not Guilty

Was Tried Before Jury on Drunken Driving Charge

Gerald O'Neil of 183 Green street, was found not guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated following a trial Thursday night before Judge Matthew V. Cahill and a jury of six men in police court. O'Neil was represented by Attorney Chris J. Flanagan, while Attorney Dorr E. Monroe appeared for the district attorney's office. Officer Frank Sammons of the Kingston Police Department arrested O'Neil on Saturday morning, October 11, 1941, at 4:58 o'clock, after the car driven by O'Neil had struck the parked car of Albert Mones of 120 Hasbrouck avenue, on North Front street. Mr. O'Neil testified that he was not intoxicated but that he had had four glasses of beer. In his behalf were called his wife; his brother, Jay; his aunt, Mrs. Anna Broader; Louis Sapp, steward at the Elks Club; Albert Mones, owner of the parked car that was struck; Arthur Lahl, bartender at The Barn; and William Fitzpatrick, proprietor of the Barn. Those who testified against O'Neil were Officer Sammons, Dr. C. B. Van Gaasbeek, Lieut. Ernest A. Boss and Officers John Harnen and Joseph Fallon.

Arrest Aliens in Albany

Albany, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—Arrest of five enemy aliens and seizure in their homes of five short wave radios, four shotguns, four rifles, five cameras and a quantity of ammunition was announced today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Arthur Cornelius, Jr., Albany F.B.I. office chief, said three Italians were apprehended in Utica last night and a German was taken into custody in Delanson yesterday. They are held on order of U. S. Attorney Ralph L. Emmons under the President's proclamation for surrender of contraband by enemy aliens.

Suspension of State Income Tax for Men in Service Overseas Proposed

Albany, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—Suspension for the war's duration of state personal income tax payments by New Yorkers in the armed forces overseas was proposed today by two Republican legislators. Assemblymen C. Dean Williams, Utica, and Maurice Whitney, Rensselaer, said the legislation will be introduced in protest against what they called the state tax commission's refusal to waive a penalty against a soldier, now in Australia, who failed to file his return before the legal deadline.

Majority Republicans, meantime, studied liberalization of the unemployment insurance law in the light of their leadership's capitulation to demands of Governor Lehman and labor leaders for a 20-week maximum benefit record. They had previously planned to vote an extension from the present 13 to 16 weeks, and the change was explained by Assembly Majority Leader Irving Ives as due to a belief "there will be unavoidable unemployment" this summer and fall while industries are converted to war production. Republicans suffered a "program" defeat in the senate, where an assembly-approved resolution for a constitutional amendment to compel budgeting full state financial aid last 23 to 16. The amendment would have assured civil and political subdivisions full statutory aid in each annual state budget. Announcing their income tax suspension proposal, Whitney and Williams asserted the state tax commission has granted a Utica resident, who enlisted in February, an extension until October 15 for his payment. They said the department notified him, however, a six per cent penalty will be assessed. Whitney, chairman of the Assembly Tax Committee, is author of a 1941 law permitting the commission to suspend the interest on additional personal income taxes and to waive or reduce additional taxes, penalties or interest. "If the taxing officials haven't any better judgment than to penalize a soldier in such a case," Williams said, "they should be compelled, rather than permitted, to suspend penalties on those unable to pay on time because they are busy fighting for our nation's life."

Would Relate Anti-Trust Laws To Labor Unions

said committee members felt they should offer a "more constructive" bill than one by Senator Connolly (D-Tex.) which provides for government seizure of strike-bound plants and which also is due to come up Monday. The revised Bill measure provides for settlement of labor disputes by the present conciliation service and war labor board plus a three-member arbitration commission to be appointed by the President. It would authorize the commission to forbid any salary increases above $5,000 a year, a provision which Subcommittee Chairman Hill (D-Ala.) said was designed to prevent corporations from holding down corporate income or excess profits taxes by boosting the salaries of top executives.

The Monroey Bill
The Monroey anti-trust bill in the House would establish by law that it "shall not be within the legitimate objects" of labor, agricultural or horticultural organizations to make any contract, or to "engage in any combination or conspiracy, in restraint of commerce," by: Jurisdictional work stoppages in a plant where one union already has been designated exclusive bargaining agent under the National Labor Relations Act. Requiring employers to make a secret payment to any officer or agent of a labor organization. Requiring any employer to impose "unreasonable restrictions or conditions upon the use of any material machines, or equipment. Joining or combining with any employer or any non-labor group to fix prices, allocate customers, restrict production, eliminate competing employers, attempt to monopolize any part of trade or commerce, or to restrain competition."

Induce any employer to hire any person "when such person is in fact in excess of the number of persons reasonably required to perform the work in which the employer is engaged." Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, in charge of anti-trust prosecutions, recently told the judiciary committee that business, the farmer and the consumer all were "at the mercy" of labor and that organized labor was "destroying" small business. The British daylight raids on northern France in the morning capped overnight thrusts in which the R.A.F. attacked the German U-boat base at Lorient, docks at Le Havre, and Nazi airdromes in Holland and occupied France. The British air ministry said more than 1,500,000 German soldiers and civilians were "fully engaged in defense" against the R.A.F.'s tempestuous blows, and that the offensive was "compelling the enemy to maintain a long and purely defensive western front."

Would Change Colors

Columbus, O., April 17 (AP)—Ohio Penitentiary's "Defense Legion" wants to trade prison gray for Uncle Sam's khaki. Drilling four nights a week, 260 convicts are preparing for a place in America's armed forces—if the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission grants them freedom and military authorities accept their services. The admiring Warden and Commanding Officer, General Frank D. Henderson, says that in three months most of the group would be ready for the army. The unit uses dummy guns.

Proposed Change In Bus Service Slightly Altered

In order not to deprive residents along Washington avenue between North Front street and Main street of their present bus service, a change has been made in the proposed plan to request a bus service for the residents of Hurley avenue and connecting streets between Hurley avenue and Main street. As first outlined it was planned in the petition now being circulated to have the bus line change its route through Hurley avenue and back to Washington avenue at Main street. A plan has now been announced whereby the service out Hurley avenue and across adjacent streets to Main street would be a partial service. The present plan is to ask that a bus service be given that section by the operation of a bus about once an hour over the new proposed route with the balance of the buses being operated over the present route on Washington avenue. Through a partial service to the outlying section of the 12th ward residents on upper Hurley avenue and Main street and connecting streets would be served by this partial service.

The proposed plan will be presented at a meeting of the Common Council following the circulation of petitions among residents of the ward. An application to the Public Service Commission for an amendment to the present route will be made later.

Air Training Conference
Washington, April 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King disclosed today a conference would be held in Ottawa early in May to which representatives of all United Nations with air training programs underway in this country or Canada, will be invited. A joint statement by the two chiefs of government, released simultaneously here and in the Canadian capital, said that the purpose of the meeting "lies along the lines of further united military efforts."

Names Submitted Slowly for Roll of Honor in City

"Names and addresses of the youth of Kingston in the armed services of the nation are coming in slowly," said City Clerk Leo P. Fennelly this morning. The names are intended to be inscribed on a temporary Roll of Honor to be placed in the corridor of the city hall.

To date approximately 80 names have been filed with the city clerk.

The same difficulty in having members of a family report the names and addresses of relatives in service was experienced at the close of the first World War in 1918, when the job of collecting the names to be inscribed on the memorial tablet that stands in front of the city hall, was assigned to Joseph Turner, then serving as deputy city clerk.

Even after the tablet had been positioned it was found that some names that should be on the tablet were missing, through no fault of Mr. Turner, to whom the names had not been reported, and they were inscribed after the tablet was placed.

Fortunately there happened to be enough space left on the tablet to allow for the additional names.

Red Cross News

To Head Course

The Red Cross of the local unit has appointed Mrs. James W. Chase to head the canteen course which will be given in this city. Enrollment for a class of 20 is now being made at the Volunteer Office, 247 Clinton avenue.

The course will include 10 hours of instruction and a small fee for the cost of materials used.

striking from the south and threatened with being cut off by other Japanese invaders driving down from the northeast out of Thailand.

The warning by British Cabinet Minister Casey that Japan was strong enough to invade India and Australia at the same time was not elaborated, but not a more cheering note he declared that United States production was moving at "a great pace" and would soon "make itself felt in more than one theatre of the war."

In the battle for the approaches to Australia, Japanese warplanes again raided Port Moresby, New Guinea, 300 miles across the Torres Strait from Australia, and dropped 50 bombs.

In the Philippines, a Tokyo broadcast asserted that 50,000 Filipino and United States soldiers, including 9,000 Americans, had been captured on Bataan Peninsula up to yesterday—10,000 more than Tokyo claimed on Tuesday.

With Bataan fallen and Corregidor Island fortress under fiery siege in Manila Bay, Japan's invasion armies were apparently bent on capturing the central Philippines as their next objective.

American-Filipino troops were reported fighting off an attack on Iloilo, on Panay Island.

Panay lies midway between Luzon Island in the north and Mindanao Island in the south.

A war department communiqué said yesterday that 8,000 Japanese troops, landing under cover of naval gunfire and aerial bombardment, were engaged by American-Filipino defenders.

Aerial Attacks Continue

London, April 18 (AP)—Clearing weather unleashed wave upon wave of R. A. F. planes today for their virtually ceaseless offensive against the German-dominated continent, and Nazi bombers struck back savagely at a south coast town which they said was Southampton.

A great force swept northern France and returned across the strait, preceded by the angry sound of German anti-aircraft batteries on the occupied mainland. Spitfires blanketed a great area with good results. Scores of destructions across the waters at 20,000 feet. The first wave was followed inland over France by a second force.

The German high command said 11 British planes were destroyed over the channel and English south coast yesterday in violent combats. The Germans said supply installations were attacked with good results at Southampton with high explosive and incendiary bombs.

Early this morning enemy planes dropped bombs also at a west country town and roared away before ground guns could come into action.

The two waves of R. A. F. raiders were followed in the afternoon by a strong mixed force of bombers and fighters who headed southward from the sea from Deal in the afternoon. Scores of aircraft were visible to watchers who soon heard anti-aircraft fire greeting the invaders.

The night attack kept alive a virtual non-stop aerial assault which had been going on for more than 70 hours when the day raiders hammered northern France this morning.

The Nazi submarine base at Lorient and the docks at Le Havre were the targets of the night bombers, and enemy airfields in Holland and northern France of the night fighters, the air ministry said.

Two bombers were lost, it said, but the Germans also lost a bomber which was intercepted in the attack on one of their airfields.

The numbers in the morning raids indicated that the sweeps were as large as yesterday's assault by more than 400 British planes and the drone of high-flying squadrons included the deep roar of heavy bombers.

Although the planes swept out too high to be identified, they could be heard passing overhead for almost 15 minutes and then, very soon, explosions began rolling back from across the channel. Some of the reverberations were strong enough to rattle doors and windows on this side.

Firemen Name Officers

Fireman Fred Williams was elected president of the United Firemen's Association, Local 461, of the Kingston Fire Department, at the annual meeting held Thursday afternoon at the Central Fire Station. Other officers elected were: Captain Edward Archibald, vice president; Robert Hardwick, secretary, and Philip Maines, treasurer.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 17 (AP)—Another run of moderate selling in a market lacking effective support brought fresh declines in stocks today with some industrials yielding a point or more and a scattered few as much as three points.

On rather unsteady ground from the start, prices yielded slowly yet steadily and near the fourth hour the average was at a new low since April, 1933. Transactions continued at an unimpressive level although somewhat broader than yesterday.

Fears of a severance of relations with the Vichy government looked like the major factor in the market's distress. This operated to dislodge offerings and at the same time it discouraged buying which, under different circumstances, might have been ventured on the chance of a technical rally after a long decline.

Among stocks reaching new bottoms for a year or more were Westinghouse, Bethlehem Steel, American Airlines and Eastman Kodak. Also under pressure were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Caterpillar, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry du Pont, Allied Chemical and American Can.

Refusal Brings Jail Term

Newark, N. J., April 17 (AP)—A recalcitrant cigarette smoker whose refusal to obey a woman air raid warden's demand he cease smoking during a test black out brought him a rawhide whipping, was sentenced to a year in jail yesterday for disorderly conduct. Judge William Untermyer in imposing the sentence on Archie O. Smith, 47, of Newark, said he hoped the prison term would be a lesson to those who failed to heed instructions in the blackout of metropolitan New Jersey Wednesday night. The warden, Mrs. Esther Gialanella, was given the whip for protection by her husband when she went on duty.

Frederic Delano Dead in New York

Was Reporter of New York Herald Paris Edition

Frederic M. Delano, former reporter for "The New York Herald" of Paris, European edition of the New York Herald Tribune, and head of the Delano News Service in Paris, died Thursday in the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, Broadway and 168th street, New York. He was 44 years old and lived at 35 West 50th street.

A native of Detroit, Mr. Delano served in the United States Navy in the World War. After the war he joined the staff of "The New York Herald" in Paris and later organized his own news service.

He returned to the United States in 1929 and was editor for a time of a magazine called "Photofacts." In 1934 he founded The Corinthians, an organization for amateur yachtsmen with headquarters at 420 Lexington avenue. He was secretary of the New York Electrical Society.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Winston Delano, formerly of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Fetter of Rochester, and a son, James K. Delano of New York.

The funeral will be held at the University Funeral Chapel, 597 Lexington avenue, New York city, Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The body will arrive in this city on the West Shore Railroad about 4:35 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in Montrose cemetery.

ment should be delayed until after the war.

Previously the senate, by a voice vote, beat down a Democratic attempt to amend the bill by reforming all proposed districts and increasing the senate membership to 52.

The amendment, defeated by a voice vote, offered by Senator Lazarus Joseph, New York city Democrat, would have re-shuffled the entire reapportionment proposed by a Republican-dominated reapportionment committee and increased the number of present districts by only one.

"I agree sincerely with Governor Lehman," Joseph, a minority member of the committee, told the senate, "that we need a reapportionment to offset population shifts and give a more just representation."

"But I am convinced the present measure was drafted by Republicans who found this an opportune time to get more legislative representation than they're entitled to. For a political maneuver, I don't blame them."

Senator Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., opposed the amendment. He maintained the committee bill would correct what he called "shocking under representation" of heavily populated metropolitan districts.

Search Under Way

New York, April 17 (AP)—Naval surface vessels and aircraft scanned choppy seas today in a hunt for two men lost when a coast guard amphibian plane crashed in the vicinity of Gay Head on Martha's Vineyard. The body of a third man in the crew was found. The Third Naval District identified the dead man as William A. Boutillier, 28, radio man first class, of Walla Walla, Wash. His body was found washed up on the beach near Gay Head. Lieut. Robert James Lafferty, 28, the pilot, of

SHOWERS

Bitten by Stray Dog

This morning Herman Schwenk, a pupil in the M. J. Michael School was bitten in the hand by a stray dog which got into the school after 8 o'clock this morning. According to the police report one of the members of the faculty reported by telephone that the boy had been bitten by the dog which had entered the corridor in the school. The boy was sent home to have the wound dressed by a physician. Dog Warden Joseph Orr was notified but his search for the dog proved unsuccessful.

Feminine Marines

Washington, April 17 (AP)—Sailor girls—even feminine marines—appeared a distinct wartime possibility today following House passage of a bill which would permit unlimited voluntary enlistment of women in the navy, for shore duty alone. The measure moved to the Senate where informed members said the chance of passage was good. The House gave its approval unanimously yesterday after only a few minutes discussion.

WALKKILL

Walkkill, April 17—Dr. Edgar Beebe, head of the department of psychology at the New Paltz Normal School, will be the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Walkkill Central School in the Walkkill auditorium Monday evening, April 20, at 8 o'clock. Paul McGann will also speak briefly and show movies on vocational Education for National Defense. A social hour will follow the regular meeting.

On Friday evening, April 24, at 8 o'clock, the annual declamation contest sponsored by the P.T.A. will be held in the Walkkill School auditorium. Students from the entire central district will participate and will be divided into four groups. Groups 1, fourth to sixth grades; group 2, seventh and eighth grades; group 3, ninth and tenth grades; group 4, eleventh and twelfth grades. First and second prizes will be awarded in each group. All parents and friends are invited.

Miss Elizabeth Miers will be guest speaker and talk on "Public Welfare" at the town of Shawangunk health nursing committee meeting Monday afternoon, April 27, at 2:30 o'clock in the Health Center rooms. Plans also have been made to hold a benefit card party by the health committee at the home of Mrs. Warren V. Deyo Friday afternoon, May 1.

Mrs. Harry Headlam and son, Jerry, spent a few days the past week in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wager have returned to their home, after spending the winter with their daughter at Tucson, Ariz.

On Wednesday evening of this week the American Legion, Cornelius Rose Post No. 1034, entertained their wives and other guests at a steak dinner in the post rooms. George Geyer, entertainment chairman, introduced the speaker, Miss Jean Lampart, a student of Walkkill Central School, who won the oratorical contest in the school and also in the county and now will compete in the district contest, gave her winning essay. Alfred James, who attended the "Boys' State" at Syracuse last summer, told how it was conducted. Floyd LaRock, who spent some time in the Philippines a few years ago, gave an interesting description of them and the Rev. Osborn Budd, local scoutmaster, spoke briefly on scout work. Lester Terwilliger, chief observer of the listening post at Tillson Lake, and wife, were also guests at the dinner.

Mrs. Adam Klonowski and son, of Kingston, spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Osterhoudt spent the past week with their daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. Rodney Ball, of Saugerties. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cronk have moved into the Brink apartment on Church street.

Mrs. F. B. Lester entertained the bridge club at her home Thursday afternoon.

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, April 17—Mrs. Mary Pidone, who has been spending the winter in New York, has returned to her home here and opened up the place for the summer.

The Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer was at High Falls and Stone Ridge Thursday afternoon of this week.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Co., is busy setting new poles on their line here this week.

At the regular meeting of the Community Circle Tuesday evening of this week there were 14 present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lortz. It was voted not to hold any meeting April 28 since most of the members and friends wish to attend the meeting to be held on that date at the Lyonsville Reformed Church at 8 o'clock in the evening in the interest of High Point Observation Post, when Col. Gerard L. McEntee, U. S. A. retired will deliver a lecture and show pictures of the Philippines. The next regular meeting of the Community Circle will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wager when their daughter, Elvira Wager the vice president will entertain the Circle and a birthday party in honor of the president, Mrs. Ernest Smith. Everyone is welcome.

The Rev. William H. Barringer was at Lyonsville Wednesday of this week helping to put in the wood for that church for next winter. Benny Hummel was the only boy from here to go with the draftees who left Kerhonkson Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenford Davis are busy making improvements on their new home.

To Study Transportation Facilities for More Speed

Washington, April 17 (AP)—Declaring that both shipping and domestic transportation facilities "apparently are on the point of bogging down," Chairman Truman (D-Mo) said today the Senate Defense Investigating Committee would begin an inquiry soon into bottlenecks in the maritime, rail and truck industries.

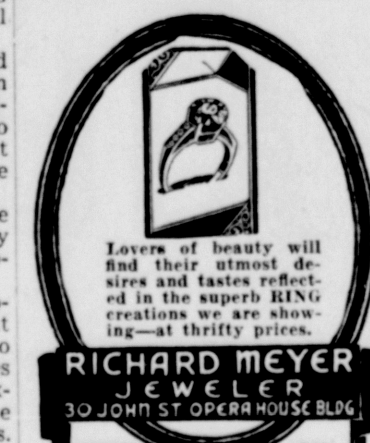

Truman said the committee had asked the Maritime Commission for a progress report on ship building but he added that inability to obtain trained crews for merchant vessels appeared to be one of the great obstacles.

"As for land transportation," he told reporters, "the chief difficulty now seems to be the lack of rubber for trucks."

Senator Downey (D-Calif) proposed in the Senate yesterday that the government be authorized to seize privately-owned automobiles and use them for taking war workers to their jobs, carrying the mails and other essential services. Although Price Administrator

Leon Henderson indicated he had no present intention of commandeering private cars, he supported Downey's contention that fewer than 10,000,000 of the nation's 30,000,000 cars could be equipped with tires from the natural rubber on hand and from the synthetic program that is just starting.
